Crazed Ex-Convict Abducts, Threatens Mother, Children

Flees With 4 Hostages in W. Virginia

Wants 'Worst Enemy' Released From Prison So He Could Kill Him

BULLETIN
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The kidnap car in the Baldwin abduction case was found abandoned and empty at 1 p.m. today about 100 miles north of Charleston.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Police threw desperation resources into the search today for a crazed ex-convict who kidnapped a frantic mother and three children. He threatened to torture and kill them unless the governor released a personal enemy from the state penitentiary so he could kill him.

Declines Comment

Gov. Cecil H. Underwood flew to Washington today, as previously planned, to meet with federal highway officials. He declined comment, saying the case was in good hands with the State Police in charge and that they had full authority to act.

"Only you have the power to save them from certain death, by granting my demands," read the note penned by the ex-convict. "I don't want money I want vengeance."

Helicopters droned over creeks and valleys of southern West Virginia while 75 state troopers pressed a ground search for Richard Arlen Payne, 23, who forcibly took the four at gunpoint Wednesday night.

Dangerous Mental Case

State Police called Payne an extremely dangerous mental case.

In the rambling, five-page tirade addressed to Underwood, he named a convict, Burton Junior Post, better known as Junior Starcher, whom Payne knew when Payne was serving time for armed robbery.

The note said:

"My purpose is to kill and to take the head of my worst enemy, who is now out of reach. He is in the W.Va. Penitentiary at Moundsville."

Wedge To Force Release

Payne proposed to use his captives as a wedge to force Starcher's release.

Underwood was flying to Washington to confer with federal highway officials on road construction projects for the state. A State Police spokesman said Underwood had "no comment."

"To save the children," the note read, "I demand only the FBI work on this case."

Payne entered the home of John H. Baldwin, 31, early Wednesday night on the pretense of wanting to use the telephone.

Then he whipped out a pistol and threatened to kill the whole family, Baldwin told police.

The crazed ex-convict bound Baldwin, his wife Elma, 29, and their children, Susan, 5, Danny,

KIDNAPED BY EX-CONVICT. A convict released only last week kidnaped a mother and her three children in South Charleston, W. Va., Wednesday. The kidnaper, identified by police as Richard Payne, robbed and bound John Baldwin, herded his wife and three youngsters into an auto and left. Shown here in snapshots are two of the captives, Mrs. Elma Baldwin, 29, and her five-year-old daughter, Susan. Not shown are the two boys, Kenneth, 10, and Danny, 7. 3 Bombs Set Off Last Fall; Result Secret

Efforts Made To Form Electronic Barrier as An Anti-Missile Shield

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three nuclear bombs exploded by the United States beyond the earth's atmosphere formed an electronic sheet that circled most of the world.

A responsible official outside the Defense Department said the tests at tremendous altitude were an effort to spread a shield through which missiles could not fly.

Set Off in September

Defense Department officials confirmed Wednesday night that the blasts had been set off secretly last September, for both military and scientific test purposes. But they declined to discuss the military angles.

Other sources reported, however that the tests explored the possibility of generating at an altitude of about 300 miles a diffusion of neutrons which would offset the nuclear reaction in missile warheads.

Just how the electronic shield could halt a missile or keep it from exploding was not explained.

The shots were fired from naval craft in the South Atlantic late in September — more than a month before the United States started a one-year suspension of nuclear tests pending negotiations with the Soviet Union on halting all such testing.

Newsmen Uncover Story

Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles and Dr. Herbert York, director of Pentagon research, gave some details of the test shots after newsmen inquired about a story appearing in the New York Times.

They said the explosions were of very low yield in radiation and would not disclose the altitude at which the tests were made. York said there was no radioactive fallout on the earth from the tests.

York said the main objective of the blasts was to test important theories about the trapping of

Missile Flight Made in Test Of Nose Cone

Protection of Nuclear Warheads Sought in New Type of Shield

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force fired a "new look" Atlas missile from Cape Canaveral Wednesday night but it developed trouble and fell far short of the planned intercontinental-range flight.

All indications were that the failure headed off an intended effort to recover the new model nose cone intact after its red hot re-entry into the atmosphere from the fringes of space.

The Air Force said today that the huge missile, carrying the same type of nose cone that would house a deadly thermonuclear warhead in combat, developed "propulsion and control problems." It dropped into the Atlantic about 700 miles from the launching pad on the Florida east coast.

The shoot was intended to send the Atlas about 4,500 miles in a further test of the capability of its nose cone to withstand re-entry heat.

The Air Force gave no hint of the cause for the apparent failure.

The huge white cone, a radical change from the blunt-shaped device that usually tops the Atlas, was the center of attraction when the giant war rocket blasted aloft from a pool of swirling flame and smoke.

Kenton Man Is 8th To Die in Hardin Traffic

KENTON — Hardin County recorded its eighth traffic death of the year this morning when Ted Harp, 26, of Kenton died of injuries received in a one-car accident Wednesday afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said Harp was traveling south on Rt. 68 about three miles south of Kenton when he lost control of his car. The auto crossed the road and crashed into a tree on the east side of the highway.

Deputies reported that the accident took place about 1:05 p.m. Harp was rushed to San Antonio Hospital where he died at 1:30 this morning.

Harp was alone in his car at the time of the accident, deputies said.

Stout To Rule In Courthouse Wage Dispute

Prosecutor Robert O. Stout expects to give the county commissioners an informal ruling this afternoon on a key question in connection with the courthouse pay raise issue.

The question, which arose after County Auditor Maurice C. Clements granted raises to 11 employes in his office, is whether the county can recall appropriated funds.

The commissioners said they will, if possible, retrieve a portion of the money the auditor granted in raises in an attempt to give pay boosts to all courthouse employes.

Mr. Stout said he intends to tell the commissioners "what I see they can and can't do" in this instance. He said he would confer with the commissioners before making public his opinion.

The prosecutor said he was unable to find any clear-cut ruling on the question "and if they want any formal opinion, we'll have to write to the attorney general."

Mr. Clements again declined to comment this morning on the raise issue which has placed him in the center of a turmoil involving all courthouse employes and officials. Raises granted in his office ranged between $15 and $35 a month.

The commissioners said all elected officials except the auditor sought pay increases for their employes at the beginning of the year. All were turned down on grounds that funds for 1959 appropriations, as certified by the budget commission, were insufficient to cover raises.

Should State's Colleges Admit Every Student?

Bill Allowing Them To Drop This Policy Is Argued at Hearing

By Our Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS — The controversial bill to permit state universities to set entrance requirements for Ohio residents was headed for revision today.

Chairman Paul B. Siple (D-Lawrence) of the House Education Committee appointed a three-man subcommittee to consider a number of amendments offered after both opponents and supporters were heard.

Chief opposition to the bill at a hearing Wednesday night was offered by a Montgomery County common pleas judge and a Columbus high school teacher who feared that students with latent ability might be barred from state-supported schools and thus never be given an opportunity to develop.

The teacher also contended that because boys and girls in their teens mature at different rates, many so-called "slow" students would be unfairly rejected.

A strong plea was made that because all the taxpayers support the universities, opportunities to attend them should be open to all.

Rep. Robert F. Reckman (R-Hamilton), sponsor of the bill, and Gordon Carson, vice president of Ohio State University, answered some arguments of the critics.

Reckman said only three other states require their tax-supported universities to accept all resident

Secrecy Issue Hotly Debated, Times Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today that the question of maintaining secrecy concerning the high-altitude nuclear blasts last September was hotly debated.

Said the newspaper:

"The tendency was for the scientists to favor publication and for the military and political leaders to oppose it.

"Recently, however, it was learned that some of those highly placed in the Pentagon favored limited publicity."

The scientists argued, the Times said, that the feat was a magnificent experiment of which this country should be proud. They further contended that experiments of last September came under the rules of the International Geophysical Year, which called for sharing of data with world scientists.

The argument against disclosure was largely political, the newspaper said.

It added:

"It was feared that the Russians would exploit the fact that the United States had secretly fired nuclear weapons in a region far from its shores and far from its known atomic proving grounds."

Trustees To Rule

Township's New Zoning Plan Meets With Favor

Marion Township trustees expect to rule within the next 10 days on a proposal to rezone for industrial use some 960 acres in the northeastern section of the township.

Most of the land involved is in the former Scioto Ordnance area and is to be sold at auction by the federal government.

Only minor opposition to the zoning plan was voiced at a public hearing in the trustees office over the Marion County Bank Wednesday night before the measure passed into the trustees' hands for a final ruling. The trustees have 20 days to announce their decision, but Paul Augenstein, chairman, said the announcement probably would be made in a week to 10 days.

Initiated by the Marion Township Zoning Commission, the rezoning proposal originally covered some 1,300 acres. It was amended after local builder Dennis L. Trachsel objected to inclusion of some 350 acres of his housing development in the proposed industrial area.

The zoning commission Wednesday unanimously adopted the revised plan which includes only a portion of Mr. Trachsel's land.

The fact that some of the land still is included brought forth the only objection last night.

"I still don't see why you insist on taking part of my land that has been subdivided," said Mr. Trachsel. He later withdrew his

8 Girl Scouts Among Victims

10 Die Near Xenia As Train Hits Car

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—A freight train plowed into a car carrying 10 passengers and "split it open like a tin can" in a tragic railroad crossing accident near here Wednesday. All 10—including eight Girl Scouts—were killed.

The "tin can" description came from the Rev. Alvin Klotz, one of the first on the scene, who added: "People were strewn over the field. There were two or three near the car but the others were all over."

Dragged 50 Feet

The car was dragged 50 feet along the tracks before being shoved to one side. One body, that of the driver, Mrs. Lucille White, 44, was found 75 feet beyond the car, indicating the force of the crash.

The daughters of Mrs. White and the other adult in the car, Mrs. Jeanette Randall, 39, were among the eight girls who perished.

The girls were returning home from a library here where they had been studying for merit badges. They lived in Beavercreek Twp., a rural suburb between Xenia and Dayton.

The accident happened about 3½ miles west of Xenia.

Kenneth Ward, father of one Girl Scout, is an auxiliary fireman. He was helping gather up the bodies, unaware that his daughter was a victim, when he recognized what was left of the car. After hunting around, he found the body of his 12-year-old daughter, Linda.

The other girls were Sharon White, Cindy Moorman, Connie Laprise, Patricia Lapinski, Ann North, Paulnetta Randall and Anna Wilvert.

Says Car Slowed Down

All were 12 years old except Anna who was 11, and the last to die.

Six were killed outright in the crash and three were dead on arrival at the hospital.

W. R. Murray of Columbus, engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad's three-diesel express freight, said he saw the car slow down as it approached the crossing, and he thought it was going to stop. But it kept coming into the train's path, he said.

State Highway Patrolman J. W. Smith said his investigation showed the freight was moving 60 to 70 m.p.h. but a Pennsylvania spokesman pointed out that the speed limit in that area is 50 m.p.h.

The crossing is unprotected by flasher signals and has only a crossbar railroad sign.

Vaughn Lewis, superintendent of Greene County Schools, commented: "The biggest tragedy was that there was no flasher light there. That's a bad crossing and we (the school board) fought for flashers and didn't get it. This is inexcusable in a populated area."

Paul W. Litchfield, Rubber Industry Pioneer, Dies at 83

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Paul Weeks Litchfield, dean of the American rubber industry and honorary chairman of the board of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., died in a Phoenix hospital Wednesday night.

The 83-year-old industrialist had undergone surgery at the hospital a week ago.

After a career spanning 61 years in the industry, Litchfield retired last October as board chairman and chief executive officer of Goodyear.

He had joined the firm in its infancy in Akron, Ohio, at a salary of $2,500 and played a leading role in its growth to one of the largest in the world with plants throughout the United States, at Sydney, Australia; New Toronto, Canada and Wolverhampton, England.

Top Echelon U.S.-British Talks Begin

Macmillan Arrives For Discussions on Allied Berlin Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arrived here today for four days of strategy talks with President Eisenhower on the German situation.

The jet airliner bringing the British leader from Ottawa sat down at 11:57 a.m. EST.

Vice President Nixon and Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter led a delegation of American officials who greeted Macmillan at the Military Air Terminal.

Guard Rings Port

An Army security detachment and a color guard ringed the airport.

Macmillan was accompanied by a 29-member delegation which included Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Their British Overseas Airway Comet airliner, the first to land in Washington, arrived ahead of schedule. The plane circled the airport for about 30 minutes so that Macmillan's appearance would be at the scheduled time.

Eisenhower and Macmillan will begin their talks Friday. If the weather is good, they will fly by helicopter to Camp David, arriving at lunch time.

Ride Together

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, in reporting this today, said Eisenhower and Macmillan will ride together.

Camp David is Eisenhower's retreat in the Catoctin Mountains of

Calls for 'New Ideas'

Khrushchev Challenges West on Summit Parley

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev challenged the West today to come up with concrete ideas for a summit conference to blunt the threat of war over Berlin and Germany. The Soviet Union is ready, he asserted.

Khrushchev said the Soviet Union is willing to meet with the West on May 11 to discuss problems of West Berlin and a German peace treaty.

He again advanced the Soviet idea that a conference include all the 28 nations that fought Hitler in World War II. This proposal has been rejected by the Western powers.

Khrushchev issued a statement evidently designed as his response to President Eisenhower's address last Monday.

He stuck to his previous contention that the broad meeting he proposed consider a German peace treaty but added significantly that if the West has "any reasonable proposals we are willing to consider them along with our own."

He said the meeting should aim to conclude a peace treaty with Germany and "settle pressing problems."

He called attention to President Eisenhower's proposal Monday night that a summit conference might be held this summer if a foreign ministers meeting could start negotiations on the Berlin crisis.

Erie Railroad Police and Fire Head To Retire

Rapha P. Steen, 65, superintendent of police and fire prevention for the Erie Railroad, will retire at the end of the month in accordance with company policy, G. C. White, vice president for operations, announced today.

Mr. Steen, commonly known as "Ralph" because of his unusual first name, started out as a school teacher and farmer near his native Tracy, Ky., after attending Bowling Green, Ky., College. Following Army service in World War I, he went to work for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., and later joined the Akron police department.

His career with the Erie Railroad police dates back to 1921 when he started as an extra sergeant at Kent, getting a regular assignment later that year at North Judson, Ind. He worked in that capacity at Lima and Chicago until 1929 when he was promoted to lieutenant at Marion, moving up to captain at Chicago in 1932.

Mr. Steen was promoted to chief of police for the Erie's western district in Youngstown in 1949, and advanced to assistant superintendent of porperty protection and fire prevention in 1955. He was appointed superintendent of police and fire prevention in 1956 with headquarters in Youngstown.

When his plans to retire became known, Mr. Steen received a letter of praise from J. Edgar Hoover for his cooperation with the Federal Bureau of Investigation during his career with the Erie.

Mr. Steen will be honored at a retirement luncheon March 24 at the Pick-Ohio Hotel in Youngstown.

Young Actress Decides To Scrap Film Career

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Promising young Diane Varsi is quitting Hollywood forever, she says, in favor of the quiet Vermont hills she came to love while on location for "Peyton Place."

Miss Varsi, who won an Oscar nomination for her first film role, said "acting is destructive to me," adding:

"I don't see any reason to be made miserable just because other people say I should go on with my career."

Miss Varsi plans to live in Bennington, Vt.

Miss Varsi was nominated for an Academy Award last year for her supporting performance as Lana Turner's mixed-up daughter in "Peyton Place." Since then she's had several other top flight roles.

Income Tax Holds Key to Progress

City Council has struck a mighty blow for progress in Marion by deciding to bring in legislation for a city income tax.

It took real courage and clear insight into this city's problems for the finance committee, with the full knowledge of the entire council and invaluable assistance from the city solicitor, to present the proposal.

Collection of the tax at the rate of six-tenths of one per cent will start July 1 provided the six pieces of legislation are passed by council, the mayor signs them and no referendum petitions are filed.

It should be the earnest hope of every single Marion resident that all the action proves to be favorable and the tax ordinances actually become law.

This tax is the fairest, most equitable means of providing the many facilities and services required by a modern city.

Its enactment in Marion could be the biggest single step taken toward long-range improvement here in the last 20 or 25 years.

Initial establishment of the tax could bring the dawn of a new era in Marion—a time of growing civic pride and achievement that would obliterate the memory of community stagnancy and retrogression.

This city has a great many things to recommend it. Its people are friendly, its schools are excellent, it has a relatively new and well-managed hospital, a fine YMCA, a good airport, strong and diversified industry.

In recent years, however, it has not measured up in many areas of service that are the primary responsibility of the city government.

The streets are terrible.

Despite a good start on sanitary sewer construction, storm sewers are hopelessly inadequate and the whole system is plagued by cross-connections.

A major project to help alleviate traffic congestion is badly needed and is showing some hard-won progress in the preliminary stages.

The park and recreation programs are substandard, largely due to lack of funds.

These problems, and many others, can be solved with enlightened, forward-looking leadership and the money that would be provided by an income tax—through approval of the current proposal and later taxation if it should prove necessary.

Marion will hold its future in the palms of its own hands from now until the tax collection begins July 1.

More Than Warmth

The president of Ohio State University has added his voice to the mounting chorus of Ohioans wondering about a student admittance policy that calls for taking every warm applicant at a state university.

Novice G. Fawcett is even more aware than the ordinary run of Ohioans how much of the 100 million dollars a year spent on state universities is to provide accommodations for beginners who lack the capacity to be finishers. With no pre-examination to establish qualifications, any graduate of a high school accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools can enter the state's tax-supported universities.

The qualifications are, of course, ability to perform academic work at college level. This takes more than warmth. The most selective voluntary schools now take as few as one in four or five applicants from lists already screened to eliminate those who would be totally inadequate.

The basis of selection is not character, nor means, nor appearance, nor personality. It is ability to perform academic work at the standards maintained by the institution. Private schools simply cannot afford to provide dormitory facilities, classrooms and personnel for would-be students who cannot become actual students.

Neither can Ohio taxpayers, who now are supporting the cost of higher education in six state universities that should be reserved for the use of bona fide students whose potentialities have been ascertained in advance.

Ohio Truck-Tax Problem Unsolved

An attempt in the Ohio General Assembly to get rid of the state's controversial weight-distance tax on trucks has been blunted by Gov. DiSalle's warning that no change should be made without thorough study.

It is not true, as opponents of the weight-distance tax say it is, that the tax has been a failure. It has produced revenue at a rate of about 20 million dollars a year, less than the highest expectations but considerably more than the lowest expectations.

Because the revenue it produces is pledged to the retirement of Ohio highway bonds, nothing must jeopardize this source of income. If there is to be a revision of law concerning the money truckers must pay for the commercial use of Ohio highways, it must not be at the expense of state income.

The issue raised in the General Assembly by HB 757 is whether truckers should pay solely according to a weight formula, or whether they should pay also according to mileage traveled. The existing formula is by both weight and distance. The proposed formula would be by weight alone.

Six years ago when the weight-distance proposal was the hottest issue in the 100th General Assembly, it was our belief that the trucking industry should be made to bear costs commensurate with the heavy costs of the public roads that made the industry possible. Because the industry was in interstate commerce, it seemed reasonable to let Ohio collect taxes from out-of-state units as well as intrastate units.

The problem of reciprocity that ensued was a tough one; it still is. The proposal for reform would eliminate it by letting out-of-state trucks use Ohio roads free and taxing capacity only — with no measurement of distance traveled.

The proposal would solve no problem but would merely get rid of part of a problem that vexes all states which must build heavy-duty roads for the indispensable trucking industry.

Unions Try Governor for Size

The question in Columbus that needs answering most at the moment is whether a Democratic governor and a Democratic majority in the General Assembly are going to be hog-tied by the labor union chiefs who helped to put them into office.

The question became important last week when Gov. DiSalle was strongly rebuked for his proposal to help clean unionists get rid of dirty unionists by enacting the framework of the AFL-CIO ethical practices code into law.

He was told by the AFL-CIO executive committee, in effect, that his ideas were not welcome and should be re-evaluated before he pressed for their acceptance by the General Assembly.

This served notice at the same time to members of the General Assembly that they should not be concerned with the problem of union reform; that reform was none of their business and in fact was not a proper subject for Ohio to legislate on because the subject was being taken care of in Congress.

Undoubtedly, unionists taking this position are confident of their strength in the General Assembly and confident of their ability to beat the governor if he wants a showdown. They would not have locked horns with him, otherwise, at a time when they are backing so many proposals for new laws and changes in existing laws. They think they have the votes in their pocket to prove they are too strong to tackle.

But not every Democratic representative and senator in the Assembly owes his election to union backing. And among those who do owe their election not every one thinks his mind and his vote belong to the unionists who backed him.

The question is whether there is any way to live politically with the unions, short of surrender to their leaders' dictation.

For Gov. DiSalle, who is beginning a four-year term, the question is far from academic. It looms as a challenge to his ability to run his own show. The unions have tried him for size.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

When are the banks going to turn and fight bandits? From reports all over the U.S., bank "heisters" are now working the two-shift day, with east and westbound stickup men and women colliding with north and southbound.

Comparisons indicate there is less trouble stealing a bundle of money from the banks than a cinnamon bun from a lunchroom. Situation seems to call for a classified ad:

WANTED: Bank board capable of tough action against bandits. Must be alert, capable of indignation and determined to "guard the shop." Stout contempt notes scrawled by shaky hand desirable. Backbone a top necessity. Calmness and poise in current situation no advantage. Applicants must be able to "see red," switch to something like a war basis and adopt a policy which will scare the hide off "heisters," and protect staff and customers.

SOME SUBURBAN BANKS are without guards or alarms. Numerous city banks lack sufficient guards to stop stickups. In a Long Island bank job the culprits included a grandfather type. The group consisted of a plumber, an insurance salesman, a blueprint printer and a tavern owner.

Job was so easy the plumber brought "no helper." (He found the work so simple he didn't have to go back for tools.) The insurance salesman may have met too many prospects who asked, "Explain what the small type in the policy says." This can discourage anybody. The blueprint fellow was a man in his late 50's who looked so out of place in a police lineup that it seemed he must have gone to the bank to ask for a 1959 calendar. But it's possible he was in state of revolt against blue paper, white lines and symbols.

IF WE WERE on the case, we would find out what drinks the tavern owner was selling. What kind of a drink would fill three men and himself with an urgent desire to go out and show up the James Brothers: But the main job is to find out why banks make it so simple.

William Zeckendorf, who buys or builds big hotels, skyscrapers and whole city blocks the way most men buy potato chips, has put up $600,000 for the Patterson-Johansson fight. Neither fighter looks like a real champ but Zeckendorf can remodel them. Fight may draw more people to see the Zeckendorfs (father and son) than to see the heavyweights.

A musical has been made of "Juno and the Paycock." From the original comedy a line still sticks out in memory. It is "Joxer's" lament, "Sure, the world is in a state of CHASSIS."

All the Ingredients

War's Unknown Factor

By David Lawrence

There's one point that is more important than anything else in the controversy over whether America has enough defense weapons and manpower. It's the key to an understanding of President Eisenhower's speech to the nation on Monday. The point is whether the next war is going to be a nuclear, all - out war or just a "limited war."

Lawrence

The controversy isn't something that has just arisen. It has played a dominant part in discussions of war strategy ever since the fateful decision was made five years ago to adopt the "new look" in military affairs.

In a sense, therefore, every one of the factions in the present controversy has logic behind its position. If, for example, the fighting isn't to be nuclear, then more ground troops than America has today would seem to be needed. For the Soviets now have many more divisions of troops than do the Western Allies.

If you ask anyone in the top level of military men in Washington whether the United States will be fighting in all-out war or a "limited war," the answer given is that nobody can ever tell in advance what the enemy will choose to do.

IT COULD BE, for instance, that the Soviet military chiefs would avoid the use of nuclear weapons altogether, thus putting the responsibility for their initial use of the Western governments.

What, therefore, would the position of the United States, Britain and France be if an attack came and the enemy didn't use nuclear weapons? Up to now this question has always been answered by saying that in war the objective is victory and that, since nuclear warheads are used by ground armies, it would be difficult to keep from operating on a nuclear-weapon basis.

It will be recalled, on the other hand, that the Western governments didn't permit the use of nuclear weapons in Korea and for about three years fought a ground war there involving huge numbers of troops. Would this happen again?

Army men and some in the Navy, too, feel that the United States should be prepared for both a nuclear war and any "limited war" in which ground operations are paramount. From a budget standpoint, this is impractical, since it would require many billions more than now are being provided. Also it runs up against the thinking of the Air Force and missile advocates, who say that, if any more billions become available for defense purposes, the money should go toward air warfare and that the next war will see a military decision in a few days' time due to the decisive nature of air power today.

SO, LOOKING at the whole problem, the Army men are right if there's to be a "limited war." So also are the Air Force and missile people right when they argue that, if there is a nuclear war, the only job left for ground armies is to mop up and preserve order after the war has been won.

But there's another unknown factor: What will the political decision be? Will the Western governments decide on a big nuclear war, or will they refrain from using nuclear weapons unless the enemy does so first?

Admittedly, public opinion would play a vital part in making a decision one way or the other. The Army men think that it is necessary to be realistic and that, because the use of nuclear weapons or of missile bases might be vetoed by some members of the Western Alliance, it would be a good idea to have ground troops in substantial numbers available to carry on "limited war."

Mr. Eisenhower, as an Army man, knows fully the viewpoint of all the advocates of more ground troops but he also knows what nuclear weapons can do.

HE NOT ONLY is committed to use to the fullest extent of their power all nuclear weapons but he has, in effect, notified the potential enemy on that point. Recently he told his press conference that he doesn't see any prospect of a ground war in Europe. His exact words were:

"We are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe. What good would it do to send a few more thousands or indeed even a few divisions of troops to Europe?"

The President pointed to the half-million troops on our side in the area and compared this with the 175 divisions of Soviet strength and then asked: "Why in the world would we dream of fighting a ground war?"

The President said that he doesn't see how nuclear weapons could be used just to defend one city like Berlin but intimated that, once the fighting started, it would be everywhere and not just in one place. He added significantly: "We will do what is necessary to protect ourselves."

This plainly serves notice that the United States has not ruled out the use of nuclear weapons and that, once any war between Soviet Russia and the Western Powers begins, it is doubtful whether it will be limited.

At any rate that's the reason why the President is careful not to ban the use of nuclear weapons. In fact, to intimate otherwise now is to notify the enemy that the next war would be fought only with conventional forces, of which they—the enemy—have the superior number.

Tiresome Remarks

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — Remarks single girls get tired of hearing—or overhearing:

"How come a pretty girl like you never got married?"

HAL BOYLE

"Seriously, dear, don't you think you're being too choosy?"

"Now, Harry, you can't tell that joke. Remember, not all of us here are married."

"Sorry, miss, we don't serve unescorted ladies at the bar."

"If that loud-mouthed sister of hers could land a man, I don't see why—"

"He's a little older than you, but—"

"He's a little younger than you, but—"

"I just love your premature gray hair. It is premature, isn't it?"

"Stop grumbling, Harry, and pick up her check."

"CHEER UP, Honey, he's not the only pebble on the beach."

"Why do you waste your time on him? Can't you see he's not the marrying kind."

"Why don't you try the Virgin Islands this year, Cecily? You've been everywhere else."

"I'd like to give you a raise, Cecily, but I've got to take care of the married men first."

"Isn't it ironic? In high school we all thought she'd be the first to get married."

"She's such a comfort to her mother."

"I envy you unmarried women. Your apartments are always so neat and clean."

"It's this way, Cecily. My wife just doesn't understand me. Have another martini."

"IF YOU just had a husband, Cecily, you wouldn't be so nervous."

"Oh, it's no trouble, Miss Jones. I'll be glad to see you home. You do—uh, uh—live alone, don't you?"

"She's at the awkward age—too young for old men, too old for young men."

"It says here in the paper there are 1,564,328 more women than men in America. Isn't that funny?"

Fulbright Opens Fire

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON — Sen. J. William Fulbright held his tongue for a short time after becoming chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee. But now he's in good voice again.

The 53-year-old Democrat from Arkansas has been for years perhaps the most constant and biting critic of the Eisenhower administration's handling of foreign policy.

His particular target used to be the now-ailing Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. But since Dulles had to step aside, perhaps permanently, to fight cancer, Fulbright has offered no direct criticism of him.

BUT HE IS still banging at the administration.

A few criticisms give a sample of his style: Last year he called on President Eisenhower to abandon "sugar-coated half-truths" that have made us "fat and immobile in the past five years."

Again, last year, he urged a sweeping revision of American foreign policy to stop what he called a "drift to disaster." He called our foreign policy "inadequate, outmoded and misdirected."

The chairmanship of the Foreign Relations Committee is one of the most important and powerful in Congress. For a brief period after becoming chairman Fulbright remained fairly mild, limiting himself more or less to suggestions.

(One of his suggestions once got him in bad with former President Truman. That was in 1946 when the Republicans won control of Congress and Fulbright suggested Truman resign.)

IN HIS MILD period this year Fulbright cautioned his fellow senators who were demanding drastic action in the Berlin crisis that the President has the "basic responsibility — and authority — for our foreign policy."

He added "No football team can expect to win a game with every man his own quarterback."

He did express hope that President Eisenhower and the State Department would stand up against Republican political pressure in picking ambassadors.

And he even suggested to the administration whom it should name secretary of state if Dulles couldn't return. He proposed the job go to Under Secretary Christian Herter.

BUT THE Senator, who had been a football player, president of the University of Arkansas, and a Rhodes scholar at Oxford, picked up speed as the weeks passed and he settled down in his job as chairman.

Although Eisenhower has been very cool toward even one more summit conference with Premier Nikita Khrushchev, last Saturday Fulbright proposed summit conferences should become a regular thing, held "maybe twice a year."

He said "maybe one of these days we'll come to have a little confidence in one matter and a little understanding."

Two nights later Eisenhower, in his nationwide broadcast, made headlines around the world by expressing willingness for a summit conference this summer if first the foreign ministers show signs of progress to make a summit worthwhile.

FULBRIGHT also proposed eventual pullback of Western and Soviet troops in Europe—after negotiations, of course. Pullback has been called by another name: disengagement.

The idea of disengagement previously had been ridiculed by Fulbright's fellow Democrat and expert on foreign affairs, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

The words pullback and disengagement have become for some people synonomous with retreat and appeasement. But Fulbright has said disengagement shouldn't be confused with appeasement.

He said he sees no particular virtue in the "status quo."

Wednesday Fulbright let go at the administration in his old style. He said its handling of foreign aid indicates it is "unaware of the depth and scope of the Soviet challenge."

He said "I believe that the people of America will rise to the needs of our situation if they are clearly told what is at stake."

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

I often wonder during high winds how many underweight people have my problem of staying on the ground. Once I was lifted off a curb and dumped in the street when a gust hit me from the rear in the days when overcoats were sail-sized.

One thing stops me cold in the Berlin issue. I cannot understand what the Western Allies expected the Soviet Union to do if no solution were forthcoming to the problem of their showcase demonstration 110 miles inside the border of Communist-ruled East Germany.

It seems probable to me the Japanese-built miniature car being offered in this country may be the one to watch, because of all the people on earth the Japanese are best when it comes to making miniatures. They even grow miniature oak trees.

Remembering Franklin D. Roosevelt's mastery of radio as a means of reaching the people, I think it would be worth a trial to have Dwight Eisenhower read his speeches unseen while the television screen showed a picture of Old Glory. I do not believe he or any other public figure has anything to gain from 30-minute scrutiny by the television camera. Even the photogenic professionals could not stay successfully on camera that long.

When you stop to think about it, there is no substantial difference between games like basketball, football and baseball and the art of the ballet, which is to show what perfectly coordinated human bodies can do with natural grace and rigorous training.

I suspect the town - and - gown fracas that upset New Haven and Yale University had more to it than springtime high-jinks; namely, the resentment of a sizable number of Yale students against the way the New Haven police force is constituted.

The answer is yes to both questions: I saw the first installment of "For Whom the Bell Tolls" and I expect to see the second half. Also, I wonder what millions who never read the book were able to make of that business about the earth moving.

I marvel at the complacency and good nature of the women who make out the applications and registration slips for automobile license tags. The job would put me under a net after two hours.

My idea of complete frustration is an impressionable male so busy holding on to his hat in a high wind that the cannot give the proper attention to a female busily holding down her skirt.

I feel that one of the things which may have turned sour in our country is the fact mothers no longer tell little boys they will grow up to be president if they study hard and wash their ears. Little boys now want to grow up to be everything but president. It's a thankless job.

I do not share the enthusiasm that causes so many Americans to make a big thing out of St. Patrick's day. I find nothing in the Irish tradition to make it more precious than the traditions of Belgium or Togoland.

My two most important finds in recent years have been a man who knows how to fix pumps and a man who knows how to fix furnaces and I am now on the lookout for a plumber who will take a similarly friendly interest in the plumbing problems of my household.

I wonder if little kids are as interested in little animals as adults think they are, or whether it is the adults who are the interested ones, like the adults who take kids to the circus so they can have an excuse to see it themselves.

Miss Alma Anne Turner

On Saturday, June 20, Miss Turner will become the bride of Joseph V. Tinnerello. Their engagement and approaching marriage date are announced in the Social Notebook.

Miss Joyce V. Mustard Is Wed to James A. Jones

A gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle was worn by Miss Joyce V. Mustard when she became the bride Sunday, March 8, of James A. Jones.

The lace bodice of the gown featured a scalloped Sabrina neckline reembroidered with seed pearls and sequins, and the long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. Billowing over an old fashioned hoop, the very bouffant skirt had a front panel of scalloped-edged lace over a tiered, ruffled skirt that cascaded into a chapel length train. Her fingertip length veil of French illusion was caught to a double coronet of matching jeweled lace.

A pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom, was her only jewelry and she carried a white Bible topped with red roses and showered with ribbon streamers.

THE BRIDE, a daughter of Mrs. Virginia Mustard of near Marion and Leonard Mustard of Sarasota, Fla., was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by Nicholas Cafagno, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Angie M. Jones of 458 N. Prospect St. and the late George E. Jones.

Trinity Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding and the couple repeated their vows at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon before the altar decorated with two baskets of white gladioli and pompons. Palms and lighted candles held in seven-branch candelabra provided a background. Marking the family pews were white satin bows.

Officiating for the double ring ceremony was the Rev. J. B. Holloway, pastor, and presenting nuptial music were Mrs. J. R. Smoot, organist, and Miss Carole Scheff, vocalist.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Judith Calbert and bridesmaid was Mrs. Susan Herrick. Their floor length gowns were of taffeta and Chantilly lace styled with empire waistlines. The bodices were of the lace. Miss Calbert was in a deep pink shade and Mrs. Herrick's dress was in light pink. They had matching shoulder length veils of tulle caught to matching flower headbands and carried cascade arrangements of orchid pompons.

Immediately preceding the bride to the altar were the ring bearer, Jeffrey Jones, and the flower girl, Patricia Lynn Jones, nephew and niece of the bridegroom. Both are of Wadsworth. The flower girl wore a floor length dress of light pink taffeta and carried a white basket filled with orchid pompons. Her hair cluster was of matching flowers.

JON R. JONES of St. Louis, Mo., brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and seating the guests were George D. Jones of Wadsworth and William E. Jones of Marion, both brothers of the bridegroom, and Ronald E. Sanderson, also of Marion.

To light the candles, Miss Nancy Marie Hoehner of Marion and Miss De Jane Marie Jones of Wadsworth, nieces of the bridegroom, wore dresses of blue-flecked white dotted Swiss over blue taffeta. Big round collars accented the fitted bodices and the full skirts were ballerina-length with scalloped hemlines. Blue satin sashes were tied at the waistline. They had headbands of pale pink pompons and their tapers were decorated with matching flowers.

Mrs. James A. Jones

Mrs. Mustard chose to wear for her daughter's wedding a dress of slate blue lace over taffeta with dusty pink accessories. Her corsage was of shattered pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a two-piece dress of mauve lace over taffeta with beige accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Cafagno were host and hostess for a reception for about 125 guests held in Neuman Hall at the Marion Engineer Depot immediately following the ceremony. Encircling the base of the tiered wedding cake on the bride's table were pink pompons and huckleberry foliage. Tapers in silver holders lighted the table. Tapers in crystal holders centered the guests' tables.

Serving the guests were Miss Georgia Alex, Mrs. Patricia Whittington and Mrs. Harold Hoehner, all of Marion, and Mrs. George D. Jones of Wadsworth. Mrs. Georgia Hartley was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Jones was graduated from Harding High School with the class of 1953 and is employed at the West Town Branch of the National City Bank. Her husband, a graduate of Harding in 1956, is employed with the Whirlpool Corp., Marion Division. Residing in a newly furnished apartment at 147 Reed Ave., they have planned a trip for late June.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Illinois, Missouri, Wadsworth and Radnor.

At the rehearsal party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Clark, 489 Fair Park Ave., Miss Mustard presented pearl necklaces and earrings to her attendants and Mr. Jones gave his best man and ushers ties.

Parties honoring Miss Mustard previous to her marriage included a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Cafagno and Mrs. Hoehner at the former's home at 458 N. Prospect St. and a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Herrick and Miss Calvert at 384 Thompson St.

Where Good Food and Good People Meet

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I read in your column where some young folks complained because they had to take care of their aged parents. I'd like to tell you how one son "took care of" his 73-year-old mother.

I work because I have to. My husband died and left some insurance but not enough. The money he left my son didn't last a year. Steve was 22, and plenty wild. He got his inheritance in a lump sum and blew it like a lunatic.

Two years ago Steve called me long-distance and asked for money to come home. He and his wife had split up. The first thing he did when he got home was to buy a new car. I signed for him at the bank and ended up paying for it. Then he bought a color TV on credit—mine.

He wasn't home five months when he met a girl he said he was in love with. They got married in Mexico. Her father died two weeks later and Son "borrowed" $1,000 from me to bury his brand new father-in-law.

Five weeks later he learned she hadn't bothered to get a divorce from her last husband. The legal mess cost me $700. Three weeks later he told her to get out, which she did.

Inside of two months a married woman started to chase after him. He told me she was "nice but misunderstood," and asked me to invite her for Christmas dinner. I told him I wouldn't let the tramp in my home.

The next day when I was at work he removed the color TV and an oil painting his first wife had given me. He also took my best blankets, linen and dishes and drove off in the car which I had paid for.

I'm not asking for advice, so please don't suggest that I have him arrested. It won't do me one bit of good if he sits in jail. I just wanted to let you know how one loving son "took care of" his aged mother. Thank you for listening.—BLED WHITE

Blubber Lubber

Dear Ann: I know you aren't a doctor but perhaps my wife's problem is not a medical one, although she insists it is. She claims the doctors are too lazy to find out why she can't lose weight.

In the 10 years we've been married she has gained 40 pounds. She has gone to five doctors and they've all told her there's nothing wrong with her glands. They say she should eat less and avoid starches, fats and sweets.

She claims she eats hardly enough to keep a bird alive. At dinner she always makes a point that she eats less than our 8-year-old son. And to be perfectly honest with you—she does. I can't figure this out. Can you?—HER HUSBAND.

Dear Husband: When a person is overweight and the doctors can find nothing wrong, it means only one thing—the body is taking in more food than it needs.

I'm no doctor and I'm no detective either—so I can't tell you how your wife is getting that extra food into her mouth. One thing is certain, however, she manages it somehow.

Some women snack all day, unconsciously. When dinner rolls around they eat very little. Often they "taste" as they cook and the 10 or 12 spoonfuls of beans (100 calories) goes uncounted. When they clear away the dishes, they eat left-overs because it's "not enough to put away" and "too good to throw out."

Around bedtime they get ravenous and fix a liverwurst sandwich. (They forget about this.) Also they forget about the candy they nibbled on during the day.

The body counts the calories, even if "lardy" doesn't. The results show up on the scale. If your wife honestly wants to lose weight, she must put herself in the hands of a doctor, go on his diet and quit making excuses for her fat self.

Confidentially

TO DEPRESSED DIVORCEE. Children of divorced parents are often torn by conflicting emotions. Don't make matters worse by talking against his new wife. Let them form their own opinions.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

During social hour a "birthday table" was decorated with a three-tier cake, white candles and red roses which were placed on a red tablecloth which each member having a birthday anniversary in January, February or March signed with her name and the anniversary date.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Henry Smith, Mrs. Chrles Dengler, Mrs. F. E. Fox, Mrs. James Williams and Mrs. Walter Larson.

"Music of the Middle States" was the study topic when the Youth of Lecture Recital Club met Monday night at the home of Bob Nicolosi near Marion. The study presentation was given by Elaine Algie.

The "A Flat Movement" from Bach's Two Part Inventions for piano was played by Miss Algie. Ronald Tarvin rendered two violin solos, "Andante" by Bluck and "Orientale" by Cui.

Members answered roll call by naming their favorite musical program. They decided to sell candy as a money-making project.

Selected to serve on the poster committee for the spring recital May 5 were: Ronald Tarvin, Sarah Boger and Bob Nicolosi.

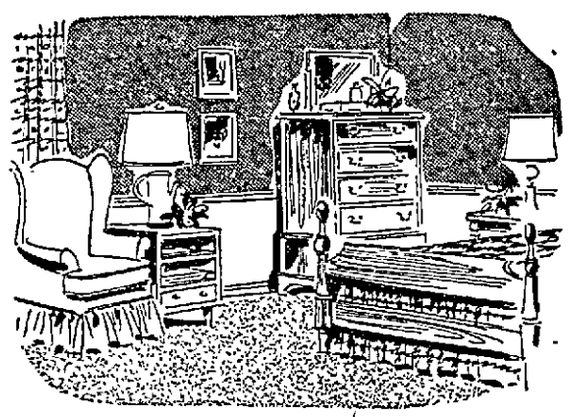
Adding CHARM to YOUR Home



DUTCH TREAT

The German settlers who began to arrive and settle in Pennsylvania in the late 17th century were people of purpose, bent on freeing themselves from the tyrannies of the old world, and establishing a new life of freedom in the Colonies. Along with being free, they felt that life should also be joyful and pleasant — and this attitude is reflected in their furniture, the gay and charming Pennsylvania Dutch which is so popular today.

Pennsylvania Dutch is as varied in style as it is ultilitarian in purpose. It bears a resemblance to the New England styles, yet has a simple spontaneity all its own. It is comfortably at home with Colonial and French country provincial.

Solid maple has been used to fashion the Pennsylvania Dutch furniture in the cheerful bedroom sketched — maple rubbed to a satiny patina — then waxed.

The room's color scheme was planned around the furnishings. Walls are a rich terra cotta above a pinkish white wainscot. Bedspreads and draperies are rough-textured cotton — a small-print pattern of copper, tans and Dutch blue. Wall-to-wall carpet is blue . . . a shade lighter than the blue in the spread.

You'll love our coordinated bedroom groups — double bed, chest of drawers with mirror, night stand, and dresser. All in sturdy solid maple hand-rubbed to a lustrous finish. All pieces sold separately from our open stock collection.

Rules Set on Claiming of Exemptions

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—In filing your 1958 income tax return, be sure you take a $600 exemption for every dependent you can justly claim. For each it means $600 off your income before what's left is taxed.

Who's a dependent? He could be your own child, a relative, or even a friend.

Fourth of a Series

But the rules are different for different kinds of dependents.

You can claim as a dependent your own child, adopted child or stepchild if he got more than half his support from you in 1958 and even if—provided he was under 19—he had $600 or more income of his own.

If your under-19 child had that much income he would, of course, have to file his own return and claim his own $600 exemption. But—

Since he was under 19 and got more than half his support from you, you could still claim him as a dependent on your return, take a $600 exemption for him, and not even have to include his income in yours.

FURTHER: That child wouldn't have had to live with you in 1958, so long as you provided more than half his support. For example: You may have been separated from your wife and the child may have been living with her.

But if you had a child 19 years or older, you could not claim him as a dependent, even though you provided more than half his support, if he had $600 or more income—unless he was a fulltime student.

Each dependent you can claim shrinks your taxable income by $600. So it's important for you to know just whom you're entitled to list on your federal return. The following article, fourth of five stories on the income tax, gives you the ground rules.

No child—except the taxpayer's own—can be claimed as a dependent if he had $600 income, regardless of his age or status as a student. And you can't claim for a dependent an extra $600 exemption because he was blind or over 65.

(Note, this, too: If your child, stepchild or adopted child received a school scholarship, it is not considered in figuring whether you provided more than half his support.)

Support, in the case of a dependent, includes money spent on food, shelter, clothing, education, medical and dental care, entertainment, transportation and other necessities.

AS FOR RELATIVES you want to claim as dependents:

You can claim as a dependent a person related to you—the kind of relationship is given below—if he did not have $600 or more income and got more than half his support from you. Such a dependent relative, unlike the dependent friend, would not have had to live in your house during the year.

For example: You may have provided more than half the support for your widowed mother who is living with your sister.

But note this: When anyone is trying to determine whether he had enough income to require his filing a tax return, there are certain kinds of nontaxable income which he does not have to report or include. Example: Social Security benefits, life insurance proceeds, armed forces family allotments, and so on.

THESE ARE the relatives you can claim as dependents if the other requirements are met:

Your child or his child (a legally adopted child is considered your child); your stepchild but not his child; your brother; sister; half-sister; stepbrother; stepsister; your parents; grandparents (but not foster-parents); your stepfather or stepmother; a brother or sister of your father or mother; a son or daughter of your brother or sister; your father-in-law; your mother-in-law; son-in-law; daughter-in-law; brother-in-law; or sister-in-law.

One thing more: You can claim as a dependent only a person who is a citizen or resident of this country or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Canal Zone of the Republic of Panama.

Next: Figuring your deductions.

Advance Purchase Of Right-of-Way Sought by Preston

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Highway Department turned to the typewriter today in an effort to line up support for a proposed means of paying for right-of-way purchased in advance.

The department sent 50 letters to Chambers of Commerce and other groups pointing out that the Highway Committee of the Ohio House is pondering a bill authorizing use of various state retirement funds to buy right-of-way.

Everett S. Preston, the highway director, says the bill ranks in importance with the department's requests for more money.

"Without funds to make advance purchase of right-of-way," Preston said, "our intention to lay out highway plans well in advance of construction will be completely stymied."

He said the important thing is to be able to buy the right-of-way land before buildings or other improvements come about, and land values go up.

Route 21 Plans Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Highway Director Everett S. Preston says plans are under study for developing U. S. 21 as a Lake Erie-to-Ohio River highway, but that no decision has been made yet. A 28-member delegation from some of the counties involved discussed the proposed route with Preston Wednesday. The route probably would go through Washington, Tuscarawas, Noble, Guernsey, Stark, Summit and Cuyahoga counties.

Firemen of the Central Stationed estimated a loss of $1,000 to the building and its contents. They said children apparently touched off the blaze by igniting the paper. The building was insured against fire loss.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the difficult jobs of housecleaning is to wax linoleum and asphalt the floors. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it's no longer necessary to wax and scrub: just apply Glaxo about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor.

Nearly 75% of all of our plant and equipment in service today has been installed since 1945. Improvements in the art of telephony, growth of our exchanges and replacements due to gradual wear and tear all have contributed to the necessity for new and larger equipment. This change has been very rapid, at least three times as fast as has been the case in former times.

Since 1945 we have changed 23 exchanges to dial type of operating, 33,071 new dial telephones have been installed, thousands of new poles have been set and 11,295 miles of high strength steel wire are now in service. An average of 1543 miles of copper wire in cable has been added each year.

Keeping Pace With Progress is more than just a slogan for our company. To us, it is a statement that summarizes the many thousands of dollars that have been spent for labor and material in order to provide our subscribers with the very best possible telephone service.

Members of Girl Scout Troop 7 of Pearl St. school wrote and produced an original pantomime and skit for a party at which they entertained their families Friday.

The original presentations were a Sioux patrol pantomime and a skit on Shenandoah patrol. The girls also served punch and cookies which they had prepared.

The party, held at the Ohio Edison Co., concluded a six-week cooking course there and 18 girls received their cooking badges after the program. They, in turn, presented a gift to the cooking instructor, Miss Ruth Kleinmaier.

Legislature Sends Bill for Supplemental Benefits to DiSalle

Bid To Gain Emergency Status Fails

Opponents Decline To Indicate Stand on Call for Referendum

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The red-hot supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) act may be ready for Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's signature today—but not as an emergency measure.

Lack of an emergency clause could open the issue to a vote of the people—a referendum—but opponents of SUB won't say definitely whether a referendum will be sought.

They have 90 days after DiSalle's expected signature to file petitions asking the referendum. They would be required to present 197,000 valid signatures to get the issue on the ballot.

Emergency Status Removed

The bill to legalize simultaneous SUB and state jobless benefits passed the House, 100-36 Wednesday after an emergency clause—stricken once in the Senate and reinserted in House committee—again was knocked out by a 75-59 vote. The clause needed 93 votes—two-thirds—to be sustained.

The Senate today is due to receive a motion to reconsider the vote on this session's first defeated bill.

The defeat came to a bill to set the last Monday in May rather than May 30 as the legal Memorial Day in Ohio. It got 15 favorable votes to 14 against, but under constitutional rules it needed 17 to pass.

Other Action Taken

The Senate passed and sent to the House bills to:

Permit out-of-staters moving into Ohio less than one year before presidential elections to qualify to vote for president even though they have not fulfilled Ohio's one-year residence requirement for voting. The bill would implement a constitutional amendment on the subject adopted by Ohio voters.

Empower the governor to conduct a survey on the need for additional state medical schools.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to permit nonprofit corporations to establish dental care programs.

After two hours of debate nine Republicans and 66 Democrats voted in favor of the ill-fated emergency clause to the SUB bill. On final passage, 73 Democrats and 27 Republicans voted yes. "No" votes were registered by four Democrats and 32 Republicans.

Milligan Raps Bill

Fred J. Milligan, executive secretary of the Ohio Information Committee composed mainly of employers opposed to SUB, called passage of the bill an attempt "to validate illegal contracts with an unconstitutional law." He questioned constitutionality on grounds the bill would release, retroactively, some 25 million dollars in SUB funds impounded while the issue was being fought in the courts.

New York City Dailies Facing Strike Threat

NEW YORK (AP) — Efforts to head off a threatened strike of printers against 10 daily newspapers here were at an impasse today.

Mediation sessions were recessed Wednesday, and no date was set for resumption of negotiations between the Publishers Assn. of New York City and New York Typographical Union 6.

Both sides, however, agreed to restudy the issues in dispute and hold themselves subject to call for the next meeting, said Commissioner Bernard J. Forman of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

A union membership meeting last Sunday voted unanimously to ask its parent organization, the International Typographical Union, for authorization to take a strike ballot.

The chief issue is resetting advertisements that come into newspaper offices in plate form. The publishers describe this as "bogus," or a form of featherbedding. The union calls it "reproduction of advertising."

Under past agreements, local display ads have been reset, but national ads have been exempt.

A recent arbitration award classified certain ads by grocery chains as national, rather than local. The union is seeking to reverse the award through collective bargaining.

Other issues involve wages, hours, union discipline over foremen, and use of teletypesetter and other automatic printing devices.

The present wages are $128 a week for day work, $133 for night work and $138 for late night, or "lobster" shift. The basic work day is 7¼ hours on the first two shifts and 7 on the third.

The old contract expired Dec. 7.

7, and Kenneth, 10. Methodically he gagged each one.

He ignored Mrs. Baldwin's mumbled pleas to release the gag, and composed his wild note addressed to Underwood.

Then he herded the mother and her three frightened children into Baldwin's 1955 model car. Baldwin was left tied up in the family's five-room house. He broke free and notified authorities.

"He said he would kill my wife and torture the children if I called police," Baldwin told authorities.

State police Capt. W. R. Callaghan said Payne was released from the State Penitentiary at Moundsville last week. He had served seven years for an armed robbery in which he shot and wounded a motel owner.

Traffic Cases

Six traffic cases were disposed of in Marion Municipal Court Wednesday. Charges, drivers and fines were as follows.

Failure to have assured clear distance ahead: M. C. Evans Jr., 21, of New Washington, $15 and costs; Marvin D LaRue, 35, of 531 N. Greenwood St., $15 and costs; Robert W. Powell, 36, of Dayton, $15 and costs.

Miscellaneous: Roderick N. Purcell, 47, of Worthington, $15 and costs (suspended), failure to heed stop sign; Delmos A. Moore, 31, of Galion, $15 and costs, driving left of center; Franklin D. Hildreth, 19, of Richwood, $25 and costs, speeding.

high school graduates, none of them in the midwestern Big Ten.

Carson said statistics show a high rate of failure among students in the lower level of their graduating classes. He also called attention to the crowded facilities at the university and said Ohio State keeps its out-of-state admissions to a minimum in order to accommodate Ohio youngsters.

Since many Ohio residents are permitted to attend schools in other states, however, Ohio must accept a certain percentage of their students, he added.

Reckman's bill would give the trustees of each of the six state-supported universities power to set entrance requirements as they saw fit. Generally, students in a certain portion of their graduating classes would be allowed to enter without examinations but the remainder would have to pass special tests.

The tone of most of the amendments was to spell out in greater detail uniform standards to be adopted by all the schools.

Zoning

objections, saying he felt it was necessary to get the zone established.

"But I think the next time the trustees had better check to see where the lines are being drawn," he said.

Some 40 persons crowded into the small office space, but only a few commented on the proposal and mostly with congratulatory remarks to the commission for taking action to rezone the area.

The tract being considered for rezoning lies on both sides of the Erie Railroad spur between the Williamsport Rd. and the north boundary line of the township. It includes several hundred acres of the old Scioto Ordnance land which is to be sold at auction by the General Services Administration.

During the meeting, Hugh E. Webster, executive secretary of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, was asked if any industry currently is interested in the land.

"It hasn't gotten that far yet," replied Mr. Webster.

Maurice Lambroff, local real estate agent, said he understood the Erie Railroad was interested in the property and planned to develop it industrially.

John Parsons of Cleveland, representing the Erie said, "I can say we're interested but I can't say we'll buy it."

John Boyd, Erie land agent, said the railroad's only intention is to continue to serve the area. He said the railroad wants someone to buy the land, set up an industry and utilize the Erie.

Mr. Parsons remarked that the Erie receives numerous inquiries from all parts of the country concerning available industrial sites. Once the land is available, it will be much easier to negotiate with industry, he said.

The Marion Board of Realtors, Inc., endorsed the rezoning plan at a meeting Monday and forwarded a letter of approval to the trustees.

Space

electrons by the earth's magnetic field. He said the detonation of the bombs released electrons into space above the earth's atmosphere, and that the trapping of these by the earth's magnetic field created the great sheet that eventually circled the globe.

Van Allen Belt

The nonmilitary part of the test, York said, was to find out more about the nature and origin of the Van Allen belt of radiation.

The Van Allen belt is a mysterious radiation band beginning at about 1,000 miles above the earth and extending, with some interruptions, up to at least 12,000 miles. It is named for its discoverer, Dr. James Van Allen, State University of Iowa physicist.

York said the phenomenon created above the earth's atmosphere by the September tests consisted of a sheet of electrons which was "an artificial version of the natural effect" from the Van Allen belt.

Extends Around Globe

The electronic sheet created by the bombs, York said, extended around the whole world except for breaks over both the North and South poles—a pattern similar to the Van Allen belt.

York would not disclose the depth of the artificial sheet or say how long the phenomenon lasted.

The Explorer IV satellite sent back some data on the tests. This information is to be released later.

Sources outside the Pentagon who had been informed of the tests said it was significant that about the time they were made there was a sudden reduction in the Nike-Zeus program to develop an antimissile missile. However, there was no clear indication as to whether this pointed to possible future development of a program aimed at producing a high altitude shield against missiles.

Quarles said results of the tests are being studied by many scientists. He termed the experiment "an exploration of the unknown in an area that may have considerable importance."

Auto Accidents

Elizabeth A. Lichtenberger, 18, of near Marion, was charged with failure to stop within assured clear distance after her auto rammed into the back end of a southbound car driven by Alexander Lindsey, 57, of Columbus, Wednesday on Rt. 23.

State patrolmen here said Lindsey was slowed in a line of traffic when the mishap occurred about two miles south of Marion at 4 p.m.

Lindsey's car was only slightly damaged, while the other vehicle was badly damaged, officers reported.

Two Mishaps in City

Two minor traffic accidents were investigated Wednesday by city police.

Cars driven by Mary I. Darnell, 28, of 526 Toledo Ave. and Clifton L. Van Gorden, 59, of 292 Silver St. collided at Silver St. and Toledo Ave. at 10:24 a.m.

A car parked in the 800 block of Merkle Ave. and owned by J. J. Steiner of 873 Merkle Ave. was struck by another car driven by James W. Ferriman, 27, of 1033 Uncapher Ave. at 7:43 a.m.

Kenton Banks Bilked of $536 In Check Cases

KENTON — Two Kenton banks were swindled Wednesday after noon of more than $500 by a check passing artist, police reported this morning.

The man appeared Tuesday morning and opened checking accounts at both the Kenton Savings Bank and the First National Bank, depositing a check for $140 and $10 in cash in each account. The checks later proved to be worthless.

The man reappeared late Wednesday morning and deposited a total of $665 in checks—again worthless—at the First National Bank and withdrew $265 in cash. Then he deposited two bad checks totaling $671 and withdrew $271 in cash at the Savings Bank, police were told.

Thus he received $536 for his $20 cash investment.

The banks later found that the checks, written on Celina and DeGraff banks, were given under fictitious names.

The accounts were opened in the names of Raymond Addis of near Kenton, and Herbert Parrish of the same address.

The man was described to Police Chief Clarence Sheldon as about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches tall, middle-aged and well dressed.

The chief said that an all'points bulletin has failed to reveal any clue as to the man's whereabouts. He added that the man is believed to have pulled a similar operation in Findlay.

Mr. Harp was born in Kenton July 5, 1932, to Harry and Dorothy Looker Harp. He married Wilma Gardner on Sept. 30, 1954 in Kenton and she survives.

Also surviving are two sons and a daughter, Marlon, Rance and Penny, all at home; his father and stepmother, a stepbrother, Richard Gillen of Miami, Fla.; a stepsister, Roseann Harp of Kenton, anl his grandmother, Mrs. William Harp, also of Kenton.

Mr. Harp served in the U. S. Army in Germany between 1949 and 1953 and was stationed in the United States from 1953 until he was discharged in 1957. He was employed at the RBM Manufacturing Co., here.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 1:30 p.m. at the Schindewolf-Steiner-Stevens Funeral Home. The Rev. Theodore Shoemaker of First Methodist Church will officiate and burial will be in Grove Cemetery here. Friends may call at the funeral home after 3 p.m. Friday.

Accompanying Macmillan will be Lloyd, Sir Harold Caccia, British ambassador to Washington; Sir Norman Brook, secretary of the Cabinet, and Sir Frederick Hoyer Millar, permanent undersecretary of the foreign office.

It is expected that Macmillan will urge Eisenhower to join him in working out more flexible Western policies for forthcoming negotiations with Russia.

Budget Battle Over Airports Is Anticipated

Democrats Propose To Spend $97 Million More Than Ike Seeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats and Republicans squared off today for another budget battle likely to have repercussions in next year's election campaigns.

It's over a Democratic-backed airport-aid bill which calls for spending 97 million dollars more than President Eisenhower has recommended.

Republicans are backing a bill following the President's recommendations and providing for a four-year outlay of 200 millions for airport development.

They already have served notice that they will demand a separate roll-call vote on their measure to determine, in the words of GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, "who the spenders are."

Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts told the House there will be a roll-call vote on the Democrats' bill "and it will be interesting to see how Republicans vote."

The bill backed by most Democrats calls for a four-year extension of the federal airport-aid program at a cost of 297 million dollars, considerably below the 465 millions already voted by the Senate. It would approve the use of federal funds for airport construction and for the cost of airport terminal space used by federal agencies, such as traffic control towers, weather stations and customs offices.

The administration measure would restrict the use of federal funds to airports and needed safety facilities. It provides for a gradual withdrawal from the airport aid program over the four-year period.

Galion Woman Learns New Skills in Retirement

Ex-Hospital Dietitian Is Skilled in Ceramics, Cooks for Friends

GALION — The word 'retired" for a Galion woman doesn't seem to have the dictionary meaning, "withdrawn from active duty or business."

Mrs. Jessie Essex who is retired is only happy when she is doing something for someone.

Her retirement has meant an opportunity to do new things. She has learned to paint and make ceramics. She cooks and bakes delicacies by the dozens as a favor for her friends, gets out a club bulletin and is active on several civic boards and committees and her church and clubs. To top it off, she wrote a story on food for a club, which turned out so well that her friends declare it should be published.

LAST WEEK, Mrs. Essex, widow of Fred Essex, made 27 dozen canapes for friends in Mount Gilead. A retired supervisor of dietary service at Galion Community Hospital and a former caterer, Mrs. Essex combines art and quality in the cuisine. Like all good cooks, she became one because she loved to do it. Now that she no longer is regularly employed, she finds an outlet for her talent by preparing food to help out her friends.

During the last year, Mrs. Essex learned to make ceramics and did so well by Christmas time that she was instructor of her hospital auxiliary twig for the project of making numerous ceramic articles. These included salt and peppers in different designs, bonbon dishes, ash trays and pitchers made for the bazaar.

ACTIVE IN RETIREMENT. Mrs. Fred Essex of Galion is retired, but it doesn't show in her schedule of activities. Among the many hobbies she has developed since leaving her post as Galion Community Hospital dietary supervisor is ceramics. Here she puts the finishing touches on one of her figurines. Other examples of her work can be seen on the table. Food is still her first love, though, and she spends hours cooking delicacies for her friends.

"Believe It or Not, We Are What We Eat," is the title of the story that Mrs. Essex wrote for a local club. Written in two parts, the first pertains to food as a service. The second regards the psychology of food and what it means to people. She writes that food should be prepared for eye appeal as well as for taste and nourishment. "Children eat with their eyes," writes Mrs. Essex.

EVERY MONTH, this retired woman makes up the bulletin for the Galion Business and Professional Women's Club. In reading poetry, one of her favorite pastimes, she finds appropriate poems for the month's bulletin. After she sends out her material to be typed and mimeographed, she addresses and mails it out to 75 members.

Oil painting is another hobby which Mrs. Essex has started in her retirement. "I give my 'masterpieces' to my friends," chuckles Mrs. Essex.

With Mrs. J. F. Bemiller, a retired hotel food supervisor and caterer, Mrs. Essex will have charge of all of the food for the first four hours of the coming antique adction which the Woman's Hospital Auxiliary of Galion is sponsoring in April. She also is a member of the executive board and serves as sales tax stamp chairman for the auxiliary.

Currently, Mrs. Essex is working with committees to plan the 30th anniversary of Senior Circle of the Child Conservation League, Galion's first mothers' club. She is a charter member and charter officer. A new interest is membership on the advisory council of the Galion Day Child Care Center.

IN HER "leisure" moments, Mrs. Essex works cross-word puzzles, is an avid reader, enjoys television, invites in friends for bridge and cooks them ar. elegant luncheon or dinner. She sends out food, too, to the sick and the lonely.

Mr. Chipps VII, a registered 15-year-old blonde cocker spaniel, handicapped some by his deafness, keeps Mrs. Essex company. Without a doubt he could be one of the best fed dogs in Galion.

First Presbyterian Church, Eastern Star, and American Legion Auxiliary, also get some of Mrs. Essex's time. She is the widow of Fred Essex, a railroad conductor, has one son, James of Euclid, and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Essex will have her 70th birthday in September.

Body Identified

MEMPHIS (AP)—The FBI says a tattooed man who was killed and dumped in a Mississippi creek has been identified as August Eilenfield Jr., 27, of Cincinnati.

Eilenfield, last seen in Cincinnati in 1956, was found in a remote area near Ashland, Miss., Oct. 29, floating face down in a creek. There was no identification in his clothing. The corpse was decomposed.

Pact Ends Strike

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — A new contract has been agreed upon for members of Local 11-630, Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, who returned to work March 9 after a month-long strike against the Carborundum Co. of Logan.

Moore Wins Featherweight Title in 13-Round KO

Springfield Fighter Defeats Kid Bassey

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New world featherweight champion Davey Moore said today his next encounter will not be the promised rematch with ex-champ Hogan (Kid) Bassey, but with a set of inflamed tonsils.

"Those doggone tonsils almost cost me the chance at the title," said Moore who Wednesday night lifted the crown from the bloody but unbowed head of the well-muscled ex-champ from British Nigeria. Moore is from Springfield, Ohio.

Fight Almost Postponed

"Davey had a sore throat and a 101-degree temperature last Sunday," said his manager, Willie Ketchum. "I almost called off the fight."

But the sharpshooting Moore showed no signs of illness as he slashed Bassey's face into a grotesque, bloody mask before 10,129 wildly shouting fans in Olympic Auditorium.

After the 13th round, Bassey's manager, George Biddles, shouted to referee Tommy Hart: "Stop the fight. My fighter has had it."

"I couldn't see. I couldn't see," Bassey yelled above the din. "The blood was running in my eyes."

Moore hopped gleefully across the ring, threw his arm about Bassey and shouted: "Well, it's like this, Hoag—you had that title and I wanted it, man."

"Yes, Yes," said Bassey in his clipped British West African accent. "I could not continue. I could not do an impossibility."

It was the third time Bassey had been stopped on cut eyes.

Rematch Is Scheduled

A rematch is slated within 90 days in Los Angeles. However, Moore's tonsil operation probably will delay the rematch. Then, too, Bassey's eye cuts may take longer than three months to heal.

Moore admitted he was a bit tense in the opening rounds. He looked it, too, as the strong and hard-socking Bassey blazed away with his murderous left hook.

In the third round Moore jabbed open a cut over the champion's right eye.

"Get the eye. Get the eye," counseled manager Ketchum between rounds. And Moore did exactly that. By the seventh, the champion's face was a puddle of blood.

Bassey picked up a guaranteed $45,000 plus television rights. Moore was guaranteed 20 per cent of the gate of $65,602.

Moore weighed 125½, Bassey 125.

Redleg Drills Hampered by Florida Rains

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Eight days of bad weather, mostly rain, are making it hard for Mayo Smith, Cincinnati Redlegs Manager not only to conduct day-to-day drills, but plan for the season ahead, beginning April 9.

Rain drove the team into a stock-barn on the Tampa Fairgrounds Wednesday for what passed as pitchers' practice.

"Rain doesn't bring out a thing in a pitcher," rued Smith. "A thing except moaning, that is, because he doesn't get a chance to work.

"Right now my first thought is finding five starting pitchers. I believe I have four in Brooks Lawrence, big Don Newcombe, Joe Nuxhall and Bob Purkey." The fifth, he said, might be Jim O'Toole, Bob Mabe or Tom Acker.

Mayo has his eyes on Newcombe and O'Toole for today's workout here with St. Louis, weather permitting.

Duel for NCAA Title Resumes Friday Night

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Take a hot team like Louisville, blend in a heaping portion of home court advantage and you have the probable favorite in the NCAA basketball championships at Freedom Hall here Friday and Saturday.

Or do you? Coach Pete Newell of California's Pacific Coast Conference champions—for one—isn't buying the Louisville advantage.

"In a tournament like this," Newell said today, "a home team doesn't have nearly the advantage it has for a regular season game.

"For one thing, the men officiating the games all are from different sections of the country. The rules sometimes are interpreted differently and whatever advantage a team might have would tend to be minimized."

"For another," Newell added, "with a tournament like this, the folks are here to see the championship decided—not to root solely for the home team."

Newell's Golden Bears, who swept past Utah and St. Mary's in the Far West NCAA regional last weekend while pushing their winning streak to 14, face Cincinnati and the great Oscar Robertson in the second game of Friday's semifinal program.

Louisville, a surprise survivor after successive upsets of defending champ Kentucky and Big Ten king Michigan State in the Mid-East regional, meets West Virginia's Southern Conference champions in the opener at 8:30 p.m.

California was the first of the three visiting teams to arrive, flying in Wednesday in time for a workout. West Virginia and Cincinnati were due in today.

Soldier Field To Be Used by Grid Cardinals

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cardinals have a new home base — huge Soldier Field.

They will be leaving Comiskey Park, home of the White Sox, for the first time since 1940.

A five-year lease on Soldier Field was signed Wednesday by Walter Wolfner, managing director of the National Football League club, and James Gately, president of the Chicago Park District.

Rental will be 10 per cent of the gross revenue. The Cards also eventually will pay $120,000 it will cost to revamp the arena, including portable bleachers, for a snug seating capacity of 52,000.

Soldier Field in its present arrangement can accommodate more than 100,000 for football games.

Youngest, Newest Pilot

Hemus Believes Cardinals Can Leap to First Division

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Solly Hemus doesn't underestimate the task confronting him in his first season as a big league manager but he firmly believes he can lift the St. Louis Cardinals out of the second division.

The major's youngest and newest pilot, is an optimist at heart. He thinks his club can go all the way if it can come up with a hard-hitting right fielder, and if two or three of the young pitchers carry their impressive exhibition work into the regular season.

Terms Club 'Pretty Good'

"It's a pretty good ball club," he said, "better than most people realize."

The scrappy little pilot singled out several youngsters who he believes will make a contender out of the Redbirds.

"Barring a complete reversal of form," he said, "three of our young pitchers — Ernie Broglio, Gary Blaylock and Bob Ginson—have earned a place on the staff. Broglio will be a starter along with Sam Jones, Larry Jackson and Vinegar Bend Mizell.

Gotay Biggest Surprise

"Chuck Essigian, whom we acquired from Philadelphia, is in line for a shot at the regular right field job although Bobby Gene Smith, Curt Flood, Gene Oliver and Ellis Burton are still in the running."

The biggest surprise in camp, however, is Julio Gotay, a 19-year-old Puerto Rican, who had had only two years of professional experience and last year played with Winnipeg of the Class C Northern League. The unheralded youngster has made such a fine impression at shortstop that Hemus has tabbed him as the one to beat for the regular job.

"So far he's made all the plays," said Solly. "He has good power, a strong arm and he can run."

With the exception of right field and shortstop, Hemus has his opening lineup all set. He listed it as follows: Don Blasingame, 2b; Gino Cimoli, cf; Stan Musial, lf; Ken Boyer, 3b; Joe Cunningham, 1b; Gene Green, c; and possible Jones, p.

Ron Delany Pulls Out of Ohio Meet

CLEVELAND (AP) — The big star is missing, but there's still a classy field for the 19th annual Knights of Columbus indoor track meet here Friday night.

Ron Delany, the indoor mile champion, pulled out of the meet because of what he said were "study commitments" at Villanova University where he is a graduate student.

Aside from track fans — who were looking for a possible sub-four-minute mile—the most disappointed man was Istvan Rozsavolgyi, Delany's most persistent challenger all winter. The former Hungarian Army oficer chased Delany to a 4:01.4 world indoor record in New York two weeks ago.

Will Seek Indoor Record

Rozy has been training here since losing to Delany in Milwaukee March 9. He had been getting closer each time and felt this was his chance to catch the flying Irishman.

Rozy promises he'll go all out anyway in hopes of lowering Delany's mark.

With Delany scratched from the mile, the two-mile event could be the top attraction. It features Al Lawrence, an Australian from the University of Houston who set a world record of 8:46.8 two weeks ago; Max Truex of Southern California, who trimmed Lawrence in Milwaukee with the second fastest two-mile on record (8:47.2); and Laszlo Tabori, the Hungarian who won the 1957 event here.

Josh Culbreath of the Philadelphia Pioneer Club, national indoor champion, may have his hands full in the 600-yard run against Mel Barnwell of Pittsburgh, Nick Ellis of Morgan State, Roger Cum of Kentucky and Dave Mills of Purdue.

Tops Dash Threats

Ira Murchison of the University of Chicago appears to be the standout in the 50-yard dash. His chief competition probably will be Paul Winder of Morgan State, national indoor champion.

The 50-yard hurdles has a crack field that includes Lee Calhoun, the U. S. Olympic champion; Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan; Willie May of Indiana, the Big Ten kingpin; and Keith Gardner, the Jamaica Olympian from Nebraska.

Other feature events are the 1,000-yard run, pole vault, two-mile relay and mile relay.

First Cut of Spring

Tribe Sending Six Rookies to Minors

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — In the first big squad cut of the year, the Cleveland Indians today sent first baseman Gordon Coleman and pitcher Paul Robinson to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League.

Four other men were sent to Daytona Beach, Fla., where the Indians have a training camp for farm club players. The four are pitchers Bill Fazekas, Vic Lapiner and Walter Seward and infielder Mike White. They are going to Daytona Beach for training and further assignment.

Left-hander Herb Score drew the starting assignment in an exhibition game with the San Francisco Giants at Phoenix today.

The Giants belted Score for nine hits and eight runs in three innings when he started against them in the exhibition opener here March 7.

He was more impressive in his last start, allowing one hit and no runs in two innings against the Boston Red Sox Sunday at San Diego. He struck out three and walked two.

The Red Sox got 21 hits of five Tribe pitchers in rolling to a 14-7 victory here Wednesday. It was their ninth win in 10 exhibition games.

Bosox, Giants Take Wins in Training Play

By The Associated Press

It's beginning to look as if the Boston Red Sox were right as rain when they forsook Florida for Arizona this spring.

The Red Sox ran their exhibition game record to 9-1 Wednesday with a 14-7 victory over Cleveland, while rain washed out the Florida training games for the third consecutive day.

Records Discounted

True, the tendency is to discount baseball records compiled before opening day, but it is also the tendency for the sun to shine in Florida during late March.

If nothing else, the Red Sox must be giving American League managers in Florida something to think about between cancellations.

With only four teams training in Arizona, their records naturally are not as representative as those of the 12 Florida clubs who meet a wider variety of opponents.

The Red Sox victory breakdown shows 4 over the Indians, 3 over the San Francisco Giants and two over the Chicago Cubs. Only Cleveland has beaten the Bosox, and the Tribe did it with the benefit of a ninth inning error.

Too Much Boston Power

Wednesday it was a case of too much Bosox power. Rookie Pumpsie Green hit two homers and Dick Gernert and Billy Consolo one apiece among 21 hits off four Indians' pitchers, including loser Cal McLish.

Rocky Colavito, the major league slugging leader in 1958, belted his fifth spring homer for the Indians.

At Phoenix, in the day's only other game, it also rained hits as San Francisco outslugged the Cubs 11-8. The Giants had 14 safeties, Chicago 13, including a homer by veteran Al Dark. The Giants trailed by five runs going into the seventh, but scored four times that inning and five times in the eighth.

Rain Prevents Practice Play For Golf Stars

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — No clear favorite has emerged as 150 golfers begin play today in the first round of the $15,000 St. Petersburg Open championship.

They tee off on a course made soggy by four straight days of heavy rain. Most of the touring pros didn't even get in their accustomed practice rounds because of the weather.

Some observers pick Arnold Palmer, the defending champion from Latrobe, Pa., to repeat. Others picked Paul Harney's sizzling 19-under par in last week's Pensacola (Fla.) Open. Others like three of the hottest golfers on the tour this winter — Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa.; Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif.; and John McMullin of Fair Oaks, Calif.

Qualifies for Play

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)—Mrs. Barbara F. Fitton, Hamilton, Ohio, qualified Wednesday for the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament here with a 42-47—89.

Lifesaving Classes Planned at YMCA

The Marion YMCA announced today the offering of courses in YMCA junior and senior lifesaving during the spring vacation period, March 23-28. The class will meet from 1 to 3 p.m. daily during that period with the exception of Good Friday.

The 10-hour concentrated course will be open to all persons in the community with YMCA members admitted free and a $5 fee asked of non-"Y" members. Those seeking certification in junior life saving must be between the ages of 12 and 15 years of age. Those persons already holding lifesaving certificates are reminded that they must be renewed every two years for validity.

Included in the course curriculum, which will be designed to prepare lifesavers for summer pool jobs, will be the basic fundamentals of life saving as taught by the National YMCA Aquatic Program, plus the newest methods of artificial respiration and releases and counters for panicked victims.

Teaching the course will be Jim McBride, physical director at the YMCA, who will cover the general aspects of lifesaving and newer methods of artificial respiration. Dean Ludwig, adult program director at the local "Y," will direct activities in the area of releases and counters, a field in which he has done a great deal of research.

IDENTIFIED INCORRECTLY

George Kirk, Harding High School basketball star, was incorrectly identified as Jim Kirk in Wednesday's edition of The Star. George was awarded a varsity letter at Tuesday night's basketball banquet. Jim, an older brother, is a college student.

Don Miles, rookie outfielder of the Los Angeles Dodgers, was a member of the wrestling team in high school.

'Warm-Up' for Johansson

Patterson To Duel London In Las Vegas on April 21

NEW YORK (AP) — World Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson today was made a prohibitive 1-6 favorite to whip Britain's burly Brian London in a "warm-up" title fight at Las Vegas, Tuesday, April 21.

Broadway bookmakers set the odds shortly after Patterson's manager, Cus d'Amato and fledgling promoter Cecil Rhodes Jr., a Cranford, N.J., steel firm executive, announced the television (NBC) fight was set for the New Convention Hall in the Nevada resort city.

D'Amato stressed that Patterson's June fight in New York (probably June 23 in Yankee Stadium) with Ingemar Johansson, Sweden's undefeated European champion, still was scheduled.

Other Fights Planned

"Patterson, if victorious — and I'm confident he will be — not only will fight London and Johansson, but probably will have other fights this year," said the manager.

London, a 24-year-old, 209-pound brawler, and former British and British Empire champion, is ranked fifth by the NBA and ninth by Ring. He lost his titles last Jan. 12 to Henry Cooper in a bloody, 15-round bout in London.

The son of a former British champion, Jack London, Brian won the British titles by knocking out Welshman Joe Erskine in the eighth round last June 23. When he followed up with a controversial fifth round technical knockout (on cuts) over high-ranking Willie Pastrano on Sept. 30, he was boosted to No. 2 challenger.

Holds 24-4 Record

London, a pro four years, has a 22-4 won-lost record, including 19 knockouts. He has been stopped once. That was by Cooper in their first clash in 1956 and was London's first defeat.

London will receive in the neighborhood of $75,000. D'Amato said Rhodes and the promoter's associates had guaranteed the fighters $250,000.

Patterson's cut (including D'Amato's share) figures to be around $150,000. If he should lose, the 24-year-old New Yorker will get a return bout within 90 days.

London has been in training for some time and is expected in New York within 10 days. Patterson has been training at Summit, N.J., for nearly three weeks.

Marshall Bridges, rookie pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, switched from first base to the pitching mound in 1955 and won 14 games in his first season.

District Court Upholds Rule In Racing Case

BUCYRUS — The Third District Court of Appeals at Lima has upheld a verdict of Crawford County Judge John C. Carroll by which a state racing commission suspension order against A. P. (Gus) Topper, Bucyrus race horse owner and trainer, was lifted.

In its finding, the appellate court ruling found "the judgment of the Court of Common Pleas is correct and that the order of the racing commission is not supported by any reliable probative and substantial evidence in the entire record."

Judge Carroll, last October, ruled that the commission's suspension of Topper's license was not in accordance with the law and ordered the suspension lifted.

The commission had suspended Topper's racing rights for an indefinite period following a hearing in Columbus last June. The commission accused him of removing a horse from the detention barn at the Painesville Raceway last May in defiance of an order by the commission veterinarian. The horse had been taken to the barn for a urine test after it had won a race.

Topper testified that he had taken the horse from the detention barn to its own stall because he feared the animal would become ill as it had been held more than three hours in the detention barn.

The commission appealed Judge Carroll's verdict last Oct. 29.

Wildlife Hearing Slated At Cardington, Bucyrus

Hearings to discuss possible changes in state fish and game laws have been scheduled for tonight in both Morrow and Crawford counties.

The meetings are being held as a result of a suggestion by Hayden Olds, division chief of the Ohio Division of Wildlife, to the effect that suggestions for game law changes should come from sportsmen themselves.

Morrow countians will meet in Hart's Barber Shop in Cardington, while the courthouse in Bucyrus is the setting for the Crawford session.

Hearing on Mt. Gilead Freight Agency Slated

MOUNT GILEAD — A Public Utilities Commission hearing will be held on April 29, probably at Columbus, on a request by the New York Central Railroad to remove its agent at its station here and operate it as a non-agency prepay freight station.

The railroad has asked also to remove agents at five other stations in Ohio.

Robert Curts, president of the Mount Gilead Chamber of Commerce, said the group will meet to discuss whether or not it will officially oppose the action.

Service would remain in the community but probably would be handled through the Edison office under the new proposal.

Congress Honors Late Ohioan

Taft Memorial Tower Dedication Set April 14

WASHINGTON (AP)—The late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who wanted to be "Mr. President" but had to settle for "Mr. Republican," is being honored as few men have.

An imposing new capital monument—a slim 100-foot pink marble bell tower—will be dedicated April 14 in his memory.

Taft's tower, with its 27-bell French carillon and a 10 - foot bronze statue of the late senator, was built at a cost of about one million dollars donated by his admirers.

Selections from his speeches are being cut into the marble.

BY ORDER OF his Congress colleagues, the tower stands on Capitol grounds. In all the 131 acres that comprise Capitol Hill, there is but one other outdoor statue.

That is the seated figure of John Marshall, who served longer than any man as Chief Justice of the United States.

Not even Franklin D. Roosevelt, who served longer than any other president, has such a Capitol marker.

Marshall's statue was erected by fellow members of the bar and Congress in 1884—49 years after his death.

Taft's memorial was constructed within six years of his death from cancer, July 31, 1953 at the age of 63.

IN ALL OF THE District of Columbia, where there are 94 outdoor statues, only five honor senators—and two of them became presidents, a national capitol parks spokesman reported.

President Eisenhower and former President Herbert Hoover are among those scheduled to participate in Taft's tower's dedication next month.

The tall, slender fluted shaft—13 feet wide, 32 feet long and 99½ feet high—is faced with 8,000 cubic feet of Tennessee pink marble. It has a stainless steel roof, and an intricate lightning arrester system.

Forming a hedge around it are 75 100-year-old English boxwoods collected by nurserymen from some historic Delaware, Virginia and North Carolina plantations.

BESIDES THE tower itself and the two-ton bronze statue of Taft, a major feature of the memorial is a carillon, hung in an 18-foot chamber with seven openings front and back.

The carefully tuned bells, costing about $70,000, were imported from the famous Paccard foundry in the Alpine Valley Village of Annecy, France. It is said the 27 bells, ranging from the six-ton "G" note to the 200-pound smallest size, may be expected to give out the same tones for centuries

The bells will be ready to sound the hour, toll in memoriam or pour out a golden symphony of music. The carillon can be played electronically with pre - set bronze tapes like a player piano, or at the touch of a 30-inch piano keyboard.

The tower, surrounded by boxwood and a fountain-filled moat, is to be floodlighted at night.

The Taft Tower is just one of a three-part memorial project planned by the Taft Memorial Foundation, headed by Rep. B. Carroll Reece (Tenn.).

The others are a fund for educational scholarships and an institute for government to supply lecturers, publish books and conduct research in bipartisan fashion consistent with Taft's ideals Neither of these projects is under way.

TAFT MEMORIAL. This pink marble bell tower, 100 feet tall, stands in Washington, D C., as a memorial to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Near the Capitol, it cost about $1,000,000 donated by friends and admirers. The monument is topped by a 27-bell French carillon.

Warns Against Lag

Stepped Up Space Race Advised by Von Braun

CINCINNATI (AP)—In the view of Dr. Wehrner Von Braun, the Army's top missiles expert, "we had better pay more attention to the business of establishing leadership (in the fields of missiles and space) than to looking over our shoulder at the other fellow."

The "other fellow," Von Braun told members of the Cincinnati Post of the American Ordinance Assn Wednesday night, is Soviet Russia, whose "objective remains unchanged—it is world domination."

"The destiny of our county does not permit of a second-rate position," he said in suggesting that "we make up our minds to get out in front and put the burden of catching up on someone else."

These, declared the one-time developer of Hitler's V-2 rockets, are the major results to date of America's space-probing by the Explorer, Vangard and Pioneers:

1—"The great radiation belt discovered by Dr. James Van Allen by means of counters installed in the Explorers and Pioneers, is possibly the most noteworthy."

2—"An improved figure for the flatness of earth;

3—"The pear shape of the earth" and

4—"The improved atmospheric density at high altitudes."

Also, reported Von Braun, "Pioneer IV demonstrated the capability of existing transmission and receiving links to communicate with space vehicles over 400,000 miles away. Had it not been for exhaustion of the batteries, there is reason to believe that communication could have been maintained . . . even to a million miles or more."

Although much of the data received from Pioneer IV has not been reduced to date, he said, "it is safe to say that the range of temperature recorded (by the satellite) is within the tolerance range of living creatures."

"The projects displayed showed great interest and enthusiasm on the part of the students and excellent instruction on the part of the teachers," the certificates say.

Labor Picture Brighter Here

Nearly All Laid-Off Employes Recalled

A generally healthy labor situation with increasing employment was reported by members of the Chamber of Commerce Personnel Club at a Wednesday noon meeting in Hotel Harding.

It was reported that most plants have recalled all personnel laid off earlier in the year and that some are seeking new employes. A backlog of orders was reported by some members.

Following the labor discussion, George Schwab, personnel director for the Ohio Edison Co., played a record of "The Strangest Secret," based on the story of a writer who attained an annual income of $30,000 by the time he was 30 years old.

Robert Axe, chairman of the club, presided at the meeting. Robert Rice is vice chairman of the club.

Marion Olympic Pool Club Elects Board of Trustees

By-laws were adopted and a three-member board of trustees was elected at a meeting of the Marion Olympic Club held in the YMCA Wednesday night.

Picked to serve a three - year term as trustee until a scheduled annual meeting on the first Saturday in June 1962 was R. L. Goldhardt, president and principal stockholder in the Marion Olympic Club, Inc.

Attorney Riley Hall was elected to a two-year term and Harold Henry, local insurance agent, was named to a one-year term ending on the first Saturday in June 1960.

Mr Hall explained that the Olympic Club is a distinct and different organization from the Olympic Club, Inc, which is the owner and operator of the Marion Olympic Swimming Pool.

Under the by-laws adopted by the club last night, annual meetings will be held on the first Saturday in June each year and the club voted to dispense with the annual meeting in June this year.

The club trustees will serve also as its membership committee and will rule on all applicants for membership in the club.

A contract yet to be signed with the corporation will specify that only members of the Olympic Club, their guests and visitors will be permitted to swim in the Olympic Pool, Mr. Hall reported to the approximately 50 club members attending the meeting last night

Mr Goldhardt, as president of the corporation which will operate the pool, said that some improvement of the facilities at the pool is planned for this year.

He said that those who purchased three-year memberships in the pool last year will have the privilege of renewing them at the end of each three-year period at the same price charged for the first three-year membership.

Total membership, both paid and unpaid, now is about 700, he said.

Plans for a swim team at the pool were outlined by Warren Foster, who will serve as swim team coach. He said that there will be free classes for club members and that the swimmers who show the most promise will be urged to participate on the swim team.

Robert Strimer, inter-club chairman of the Delaware Club, described the excellent work of his club in the field of inter-club relations. In addition, Harvey Bailey of Mansfield Kiwanis lieutenant governor, talked briefly.

Presiding for this workshop was Wayne Burkhardt of Mount Vernon, 11th Division Council president. He welcomed members of the new Marion Town and Country Kiwanis Club into the council.

Carroll Lockwood, vice president of the new club, extended an invitation to all clubs present to attend the group's charter night affair April 21 at Harding High School.

Wives of Kiwanians, in a separate meeting, were entertained by Tom Petrie describing his trip to Alaska. A third meeting was held for Key Club members present.

The next council session will be May 21 at Marysville.

Max Ross Named Manager of City's Lincoln Park Pool

Selection of Max Ross, head track coach and assistant football and basketball coach at Marion Catholic High School, as manager of the Lincoln Park swimming pool for the coming season was announced today by the city park board.

Mr. Ross was named from a list of six applicants for the position, said Roland McKee, secretary.

Two of the other five applicants did not appear before the board for personal interviews and Mr. Ross was unanimously picked from the other applicants, he reported.

Now 30, Mr. Ross is a native of State College, Pa, and has resided in the Marion area since 1951. He is married to the former Miss Mary Lou Retterer, a native of Marion County, and they reside on Pole Lane Rd. with their two daughters.

A graduate of the Westchester State Teachers College in Pennsylvania, Mr. Ross was a catcher in the Boston Red Sox farm system for six years. He started his professional baseball career while a sophomore in college and played his first two seasons with the Marion Red Sox.

During 1953 and 1954, he was in athletics and recreation with the U.S. Army in Japan and managed both football and basketball teams there.

Before joining the Marion Catholic coaching staff, he was assistant coach at Prospect High School for two years.

NLRB's Hearing Of Labor Charge Is Concluded Here

A National Labor Relations Board hearing considering an unfair labor practice charge against the Marion Division of the Whirlpool Corp. ended just before noon today.

Attorneys for Whirlpool, the general counsel of the NLRB and the UAW, which filed the charge have until April 20 to file briefs.

At issue during the hearing was the company's contention that it acted properly in discharging Carl W. Adkins and that an employe council at the plant is not a labor organization within the meaning of the NLRB act.

Hearing the case for the NLRB was A. Bruce Hunt of Washington, D.C.

Presenting Whirlpool's position was Ralph W. Howard of the law firm Mickley, Frericks and Howard, assisted by Philip Willauer, Whirlpool labor relations counsel.

Robert Butler and Carroll Martin represented the general counsel of the NLRB.

These 4 Famous Home Economists Recommend WONDER BREAD FOR CHILDREN

And For All The Family—Based On Visits To The Wonder Research Laboratories And Bakeries

Dr. Marietta Eichelberger of Chicago, Illinois. Former Director of Home Economics and Nutrition Service, Evaporated Milk Association

"TO ME WONDER BREAD MEANS GOODNESS—The trip I took through your bakery and research laboratories convinced me of that!"

Mrs. Kathryne Sheehan Hughes of Washington, D.C. President, District of Columbia Home Economics Association

"NOW I KNOW WHY WONDER BREAD SELLS BEST—Everyone should go through your bakery and visit your wonderful research laboratories the way I did."

Mrs. Iris H. Albert of South Pasadena, California. Former Director of Home Economics, Los Angeles City Schools

"WONDER BREAD IS TRULY WONDERFUL—I had no idea of the care taken in baking and of the size of your research laboratories."

Mrs. Betty Fell of Washington, D. C. Home Economics Consultant

"NO WONDER MILLIONS PREFER WONDER BREAD—"

Scientific research—the key to improved nutrition! Continental Baking Company is justly proud of its modern research laboratories where scientists strive to improve the nutritional values of breads and cake.

MORE MOTHERS BUY WONDER BREAD THAN ANY OTHER BRAND

THEY KNOW IT HELPS BUILD STRONG BODIES 12 WAYS!

Today, modern bread baking is a far cry from the old wood stove. Scientific control not only turns out a more uniform loaf, but, through the addition of milk proteins, vitamins and minerals, it produces bread superior in nutrition to the bread that grandmother used to bake.

What Wonder Bread Can Do For Your Children, For You And Your Husband

What does a home economist want in a bread?

The same things every mother wants for her family—goodness.

Goodness assured by scientific laboratory control in clean bakeries . . . and top-quality ingredients.

Which is why more women buy Wonder Bread than any other brand.

They know it helps children grow bigger and stronger 12 ways.

12 Ways To Growth

For normal physical and mental development, children must get a well-balanced diet of protein, fat, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals, such as come in meats, milk, eggs, fruit, green-leafed and yellow vegetables.

Wonder Bread contains 12 essential food elements that help your child grow normally.

The amounts of these 12 food elements in Wonder Bread are compared with similar amounts contained in other foods.

This does not suggest that Wonder Bread take the place of these other foods. Or that your child is deficient in any of these elements, particularly cobalt, copper, zinc and manganese.

However, the fact is Wonder Bread does contain each of the 12 food elements approximately in the amounts shown. Thus, when you give Wonder Bread to your child, you know you are helping your child grow bigger and stronger 12 ways.

This suggests that you do 3 things:

(1) Start your child eating 8 slices of Wonder Bread today.

(2) Measure your child's height and weigh him today.

(3) See how height and weight increase in 8 months; 6 months; each year.

Fresh And Tender

You should have no trouble getting your child to eat plenty of big, new Wonder Bread.

Because it is fresh with a tender texture and crust; a mouth-watering aroma. And—makes perfect toast.

Get big, new Wonder Bread fresh from your grocer today. And start helping your child grow bigger and stronger 12 ways.

Copr., 1959, CONTINENTAL BAKING COMPANY, Inc.

ONLY WONDER BREAD IS BAKED UNDER 5-WAY CONTROL BY THE SCIENTISTS OF THE WONDER RESEARCH LABORATORIES

5-WAY CONTROL MEANS:

Does One Operation Call for Another?

"Dear Dr Molner Recently I have been told I need X rays to determine if gall bladder trouble is causing my discomfort and swelling in the stomach area

"I already have had what is called an upper G I. series, and nothing was found, which is in part why I hesitate now I have had several operations for other things and don't want more unless it is a case of life or death

Dr Molner

"Also I have wondered about the old saying that 'one operation calls for another'

"Maybe I am a little neurotic but I find myself comparing my symptoms with cancer of the stomach They match, except I have had no loss of weight I am now visiting a doctor for allergy treatments, because of asthma—MRS L G"

Several very interesting points are raised in this letter one of which is fear of cancer of the stomach

Gall bladder disease and stomach disease occur in the same general area of the body, and they can be quite similar.

HOWEVER, a look at one organ (by X-ray or by symptoms) isn't the same as a look at the other The upper G I (upper gastro-intestinal) series of X-rays shows the outline of the stomach, the gullet, and the rate of emptying among other things

The X-ray pictures are taken by having you drink a barium solution which will give a strong, sharp shadow on the film But all this does NOT show the gall bladder

The gall bladder injects bile into the intestinal tract, but the barium does not "back up" into the gall bladder.

So to X ray the gall bladder, you take a few capsules of a substance which will find its way to the gall bladder and show up on the X ray film If it doesn't arrive there, or if there are other signs gall bladder disease is indicated After the initial X-ray, the patient is given a meal high in fat, then another X ray shows how completely the gall bladder empties (Bile, which the gall bladder delivers to the system, is especially needed to digest fats)

SO YOU SEE that a G I series and a gall bladder X-ray don't show the same things, and can't be expected to I should think Mrs L G. would want to have the gall bladder X rayed now that the G I. series has been negative

It may be that her gall bladder will prove to be normal—or even if it shows some sluggishness, it may very well not be a signal for another operation.

Suppose the G B is normal With her, it is quite possible that some allergy in the intestinal tract is causing her trouble And as for "one operation calling for another"—that's ridiculous.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter, almost 16, has red blotches on her tongue Our doctor called it geographical tongue He doesn't seem to think it is serious—R C."

Nor is it. It is due to variations in the thickness of the papillae (small raised projections on the tongue's surface), and has no significance. There is no treatment necessary.

NOTE TO CAPILANO: I am not aware that lime juice possesses any virtue over other citrus fruits. The sailors on the Bounty and other early ships might have avoided scurvy by using lemons, oranges or grapefruit instead of lime juice—except perhaps those would not keep as well as lime juice. All have lots of Vitamin C Incidentally, limes have about the same sugar content as lemons. Oranges are a bit higher.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading my booklet "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Kentucky Coal Fight Shifts to Action in Court

Association Asking Injunction in Strike Called by Mine Union

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The eastern Kentucky coal strikes enter a new area today—the courtroom.

The strikes, which have idled more than 7,000 men, already have produced charges of violence and a request for National Guardsmen.

After Gov. A. B. Chandler refused its plea, the Pike County Coal Operators Assn. said it will seek relief by asking for a restraining order against the United Mine Workers.

The association, with some 300 members, reaffirmed its decision not to sign the new contract raising the basic wage from $22.25 to $24.25.

"We intend to halt all our mining operations until the court decides on the order," said Robert Holcomb, association president.

It was Holcomb who petitioned the governor for troops but Chandler replied that state police have the situation in hand.

Advised of the association's plans, Carson Hibbitts, president of UMW District 30, commented: "I am confident we will get fair and impartial treatment from all concerned."

Hibbitts said the union is "a law abiding organization and will abide by whatever decision the courts may hand down today."

Issue in the strike—it involves Pike, Bell, Harlan, Perry and Letcher counties—go deeper than the wage dispute.

Some operators say the UMW and the large coal firms are trying to put the small owners out of business. They point the finger of suspicion at the protective wage clause, which forbids union mines from buying or processing coal from pits not paying union scale.

Strictly enforced this would squeeze out many small operators who would have no market for their coal.

Mansfield Driver Fined After Crash

BUCYRUS — A Mansfield driver was fined $15 and costs in Crestline Mayor's Court on an improper turn charge following a mishap on Rt. 30-N Wednesday morning.

State patrolmen said Dale Border, 37, of Mansfield was arrested after his westbound auto made a left turn into the path of an eastbound car.

According to the report, the eastbound vehicle driven by Leo H. Wendeln, 42, of Coldwater veered off the left side of the highway to avoid impact.

Before coming to rest in the ditch the, Wendeln vehicle struck a fence and broke off a telephone pole, officers said. It was considerably damaged. The accident occurred at 10:20 a.m.

Rev. Weber Will Talk At 'Y' Lenten Luncheon

The Rev. Charles Weber, pastor of Central Christian Church, will deliver the sermonette when the final Lenten luncheon of the six-week YMCA program is held Friday at 12:05 p.m., Dean Ludwig, adult program director, reported today.

The speaker's topic will be: "What Shall I Do With Jesus?" The subject completes the series on the theme "Great Questions of the Last Week."

Leading the devotional service will be Robert Bush with David Jones and Robert Faulkner providing music.

The 50-minute luncheon is open to the public at $1. Reservations should be made at the "Y" prior to noon Friday to insure ample seating space.

Last week's attendance of 77 topped the record of 69 set the preceding week.

Children of the Bible

By Patrick and Garrison

JONATHAN

"And Saul, and Jonathan his son, and the people that were present with them, abode in Gibeah of Benjamin . . ."

—I Samuel 13:16

Like his father, Jonathan—Saul's eldest son—was of athletic build and had great strength of arm.

He was also a skillful archer. This ability set him apart from most of the Israelites, who apparently possessed no proficiency in using the bow and arrow.

David, while lamenting the death of Jonathan's father, who was killed by a Philistine arrow, ordered that the children of Judah be taught the use of the bow.

In those days the bow was sometimes made of metal, and it required great strength to bend it. For that reason, archers often used their foot to help bend it as they pulled the bowstring.

It was this practice that made the prophets speak of "treading the bow."

Some Bible scholars think that it was because the Israelites were such poor bowmen that David had to use a sling to kill the giant Goliath.

It was soon after this historic feat that Jonathan became a close friend of David—a friendship that was to last all their lives.

To show his great attachment for David, Jonathan made a covenant (that is, he took an oath of undying loyalty). And to ratify it, he gave David, among other things, his dearest possession, his bow.

In all Scripture, there is hardly another character, save Jesus, who showed himself so unselfish, so ready to die for those he loved.

The days of his childhood were brief. And the powerful bow he had made to hunt in the hills beyond Jerusalem, became a weapon of war.

Accompanied only by his armor-bearer, he crept into the very camp of the enemy Philistines at night and boldly killed twenty of them before escaping.

At his father's side, he fought bravely at the bloody battle of Gilboah. There he died, a brave soldier, a trustworthy friend.

When David heard the news, he wept. "O Jonathan, thou wast slain in thine high places. How are the mighty fallen!"

Muscle Into Federal Contracts

Mob-Led Unions Costing Millions to Government

By VICTOR RIESEL

A few counterintelligence agents, properly placed around the land by the Pentagon, could keep a few hundred million government dollars out of mob hands. Our Defense Dept., which quakes before no one, already has been shaken loose of multi-million dollar defense contracts by underworld garment shops, gangster - ridden truckers and criminal garbage scavengers — and now the McClellan committee comes up with a Chicago firm through which some hoods are cutting in on 60 per cent of the Nike work around that city.

VICTOR RIESEL

A fast check of the company, the Broadway Sheet Metal Co., would have revealed that some of its owners were known Capone-Accardo — "Cherry Nose" Gioe crime syndicate muscle men as far back as the '30s.

One of the corporation owners, Victor Comforte, flexed his muscles so noisily and clumsily when he ran the Motor Vehicle and Accessories Sales Union Local 21979, AFL, that even the late William Green had to fire him. And, brother, you really had to chomp up Chicago in 1939 to get the old AFL chief to seize your federal labor charter.

COMFORTE sure threw his weight around — usually behind a blackjack — and the state attorney's chief investigator, Capt. Dan Gilbert, wrote to the national AFL headquarters complaining. Those letters are still in the files.

Yet the local boy made good and wound up as a partner of one Dominic Senese in the Nike installation firm. Brother Senese, as he is called by the other officers and members of Teamsters Local 703 of which he is a business agent, is not without influence in some unsocial circles. He's related to boss Tough Tony Accardo.

Sen. McClellan's roar, when he came on all this, could have been heard away over in Virginia — and it was.

The Pentagon's letting of contracts without checking was what originally brought the Senate racket busters into action. Back in 1955 McClellan and his counsel, Bob Kennedy, discovered that contracts worth many scores of millions of dollars for uniforms for our fighting men had been handed to mob shops by the Philadelphia Quartermaster's Division.

SOME OF THOSE BOYS didn't know the difference between a sewing needle and a hypodermic—and had been making millions out of both types.

It got so bad some four years ago that at least 95 per cent of the legitimate men's clothing manufacturers just refused to bid in. Now this shoddy practice has been cleaned up.

There are joint Pentagon-U.S. Labor Dept., Ladies Garment Workers Union and men's garment union screening committees. Before a manufacturer can bid on a contract he must first be cleared for a special list. That list means the savings of millions of tax dollars.

Other millions of defense dollars have been lost because the government—at least the men who contract for it—let themselves be pushed around by the hoods.

There was one fellow, Evan Dale, who cost the federals — meaning you and you — a cool 51 million dollars.

Even in this astro-dynamical day that figure is hard to believe. Therefore I have for you statements from the former U.S. attorney general, Herbert Brownell. He called this loss the result of an attempt "to commit the largest extortion on record."

BROTHER DALE, a Chicago boy, was an official of the Hod Carriers and Common Laborers Union. He was "the most powerful racketeer" in his area—southern Illinois—where the government was building a power plant for atom - bomb making installations at Joppa, Ill.

"Dale's campaign of sabotage and terrorism has caused a dead loss to the U.S. in the form of increased constructions costs which is estimated at 51 million dollars," Mr. Brownell disclosed after the Justice Dept. had packed Dave away for 15 years.

"Dale plagued Ebasco (the construction firm) with 18 months of jurisdictional strikes, sabotage of equipment, violence to workers and every conceivable kind of intimidation."

We might balance the budget if we could recover what the hoods took from our armed forces.

Radiation Tested

Coast Guard Conducts Atomic Check of Vessels

WASHINGTON (NANA) — The U.S. Coast Guard has turned up radioactive firebrick, tea, and watches but never an atomic weapon in the four years or so it has been searching suspicious vessels with Geiger counters.

Capt. William L. Sutter, chief of port security and law enforcement for the Coast Guard, said about 2,000 vessels of all types each year get the once-over with the radiation monitoring devices.

A radioactivity check was made on the Greek liner Olympia when it docked in New York last week after a 52-day cruise of Mediterranean and Black Sea ports.

In an interview, Capt. Sutter said the only other passenger vessel given such a check was a Japanese liner that docked at Long Beach, Calif., about two years ago.

The Coast Guard officer said the program served primarily as a "deterrent" rather than as a completely effective net that could prevent a potential enemy from slipping a baby nuclear weapon into the country.

THERE ARE large areas not covered," he admitted. "To get 100 per cent coverage would be practically impossible."

A decision to search a particular ship, said Capt. Sutter, is made by Coast Guard intelligence on the basis of all the information it has. Although he would not discuss the specific factors that prompted the search of the Olympia, the captain said some elements that might go into a determination that a cargo or vessel was "suspicious" were:

Reports that some of the cargo on a vessel was transshipped in an unusual manner. Information that the vessel had lingered in an area where an unidentified submrine had been sighted. Tips from informers.

"Sometimes the tips come from crackpots but we've got to check anyway," he said.

PRIOR TO 1955, the monitoring program was done on an experimental basis using regular Navy-issue Geiger counters. In 1956, Capt. Sutter said, the Coast Guard got some much more sensitive instruments and the procedure was made "routine" for suspicious vessels.

Some 2,500 Coast Guardsmen are assigned to port security, he said, but this involves much more than monitoring. The service is responsible for the prevention of accidents and general port safety as well as guarding against espionage. A cargo ship searched in Galveston, Tex., turned out to have radioactive firebrick in its hold. A shipment of tea in New York was radioactive, but still fit for human consumption. Some imported insulating materials often set the counters working because they are made from substances that have natural low-grade radiation.

The program has been of specific value to customs officials, with whom the guard works closely. The counters once turned up an attempt to smuggle into the country a large quantity of watches.

The watches had radium dials.

Police Officer Forgiven, Overshoes Recovered

OMAHA (AP) — When Police Capt. Ted Janing led a gambling raid recently, he took off his overshoes before entering the suspected dwelling. When he left after the raid, he forgot the overshoes.

A few nights later, he reported, a man rang his doorbell, handed him his overshoes and left.

Producing Team Plans Comedy for Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — A comedy based upon the reminiscences of French novelist Colette has been put on the Broadway agenda of producers Cheryl Crawford and Joel Schenker.

Entitled "My Mother's House," the play is the work of Bertram Greene, whose main writing activities have been in television and radio. Miss Crawford and Schenker this season have exhibited "Shadow of a Gunman" and "The Rivalry," both to critical applause.

Model Dog Has Window Built Into Lung Region

CHICAGO (AP)—Medical equipment engineers have built a model of a dog with a transparent plastic window that enables veterinarians to study the operation of a dog's lungs during artificial respiration with a small-animal resuscitator.

How much is the doggie with the window? It cost $100 to build, say engineers of Chemetron Corporation's National Cylinder Gas Division.

AN AGELESS ANSWER

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Women are women even in politics. Ten of the 100 members of the Colorado Legislature are women. Four of the 10 refused to fill in every blank on their biographical sketch sheets. The four omitted one blank, the same one . . . that asking their age.

Economics Minister Favored

Erhard May Be Choice As Adenauer's Successor

BONN (NANA) — Ludwig Erhard is opening an active campaign to succeed Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in 1961

This is the upshot of Adenauer's misfired strategy to have the economics minister kicked upstairs into the federal presidency.

The chancellor will be 85 years old in 1961, but he made known his intention of standing in 1961 for another four-year term

In perfect health, Adenauer takes for granted that he will have a life span extending well past 90 years of age.

Adenauer's associates in the chancellor's Christian Democratic Union think otherwise. Since 1955, there has been a swelling demand that Adenauer pick and groom his successor, as did Sir Winston Churchill with Anthony Eden But the chancellor has refused to accede.

MEANTIME, Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano and Defense Minister Franz-Josef Strauss, the two front-runners for the Adenauer succession, seem to have eliminated themselves

Brentano, as foreign minister, has permitted himself to be dominated by Adenauer The foreign minister was made a laughing stock by the press for his efforts to curb press criticism of foreign rulers

Strauss successfully asserted his independence of Adenauer, but the defense minister has established a record for erratic conduct and poor public relations judgment Just now, for example, Strauss is best known for having come off second best in a tiff with a Bonn traffic cop

There has been growing criticism that it is not entirely happenstance that Adenauer remains without a successor. Adenauer's efforts to elevate Erhard to the presidency collided head on with his criticism.

TO CAPTURE the Adenauer succession, Erhard apparently need do only two things. preserve West Germany's economic prosperity—and adjust Adenauer to the idea that there must be an heir-apparent and that Erhard is the man

Facts easily establish this proposition. As architect of the German economic "miracle," Erhard is, next to Adenauer, the Christian Democrats' biggest vote-getter.

Of late, Erhard has branched out as a foreign affairs specialist as well as economic miracle man and he intends expanding his international role

Erhard recently made a trip through the Middle East and on to East Asia and India. His mission was to study how Germany can assist the developing countries. Germany has wide economic interests throughout the area, and the rotund, baby-cheeked Erhard, rarely without a Churchillian cigar, was acclaimed as the Santa Claus he so closely resembles.

CLOSER TO HOME, Erhard's current big undertaking is healing the rupture between the six European Common Market nations and the 11 other members of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC) This rupture threatens serious political difficulties

Adenauer has failed, with purely political methods, to achieve the Free Trade Area Now Erhard intends applying his technical talents to the problem.

In brief Erhard is achieving stature rapidly as an economic statesman, and thereby devaluating Adenauer's "indispensability" on the world stage.

Young Democrat Balks At Oath of Allegiance

MANGUM, Okla. (AP) — Miss Ura Foster, a teacher at Mangum's Edison grade school, noticed that one youngster, David Kirtley, was not taking part in the morning flag salute

"What's the matter, David, don't you know the words?" she asked

"Yes, ma'am," the 10-year-old replied, "but I'm a Democrat and the flag salute says, 'I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, to the Republicans for which it stands"

New Vanguard Satellite To Be 'Three-in-One'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is planning something new in satellites—a three in-one job. It will be part of the Vanguard series and will include a balloon to study friction in space

Dr. John P. Hagen announced plans for it Tuesday and said it will be launched soon from Cape Canaveral, Fla

In effect, Hagen said the new Vanguard will provide three separate satellites

1 The empty case of the launching vehicle's third stage rocket, a metal tube weighing about 52 pounds

2 A 13 inch plastic sphere with an arm extending about two feet There will be a magnetometer at the end of the arm to measure the earth's magnetic fields This satellite will weigh about 22 pounds

3 A 30 inch expandable balloon weighing 1½ to 2 pounds

Before launching, the balloon will be folded into a small tray at the base of the plastic sphere When the nose of the launching vehicle separates from the final stage rocket, a gas cartridge will inflate the balloon—if all goes as planned.

The balloon, because of its larger area and lighter weight, will slow down more rapidly than the two companion satellites and thus provide a more precise measurement of drag and friction in space

State Liquor Official Calls For Local Aid

Smith Cites Increase In Enforcement Load In Request for Help

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Local authorities can take some of the pressure off state agents in enforcing liquor laws — and a new program is being aimed at doing just that, the liquor enforcement chief said today

Ivan W Smith, the enforcement chief, said he's studying a plan which would leave the routine complaints and minor infractions to local authorities for handling—allowing state agents more time to concentrate on the more serious violations

"We have assumed the primary responsibility in that field (enforcement of liquor laws), but the public has been demanding more and more of us until now we can no longer be held responsible

Expended Responsibility

"From the field of liquor we have been forced into the companion fields of rackets and vice until the burdens and obligations thrust upon us are mathematically impossible to overcome with one small staff.

"We have been attempting an impossible task not intended by law

"We are not abdicating from our responsibility We are reorganizing our forces

"At the moment we have a tentative plan . . . which will leave local authorities with the primary job of enforcing the state liquor law

"When we are done we hope to have at our disposal a group of highly trained professional investigators . . . able to move in force at the request of local police who desire our assistance and into areas where police are unable to or negligent in upholding the liquor laws"

Notes Use of Fees

The enforcement chief noted that the State Legislature provided that permit fees be returned to municipalities for the purpose of aiding liquor law enforcement by local authorities

"The statutes provide also that these funds may be withheld if local authorities refuse or are found culpably neglectful of such enforcement.

"We have but 80 men and more than 22 500 permit premises in the state," Smith continued "The number of police officers and sheriff's deputies runs into the thousands This comparison makes more evident where the responsibility should rest."

Smith said he hopes to have the plan in effect before the new training school for agents opens June 29 at the Fairgrounds in Columbus

Some agents would be left in each district under the tentative plan to act as liaison officers between the department and local officials.

Hawaiian Sugar Strike Hikes Molasses Output

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's four month sugar strike in 1958 caused a drop in sugar cane production, but raised molasses production by 2 500 tons over the 1957 figure

The Hawaiian Sugar Planters Assn explained that the strike resulted in lowering the purity of cane juices Because the juices contained less sucrose, more of the non - sucrose content was available for processing into molasses

Orders $4,000 Uniforms

Trujillo Rewards Son On Decision 'To Soldier'

DUESSELDORF, West Germany (NANA) — Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Jr., a full general in both the army and air force and chief of the combined chiefs of staff of the Dominican Republic, is ready to shape up and start soldiering

He will launch his new, serious military career with two new uniforms — each one costing $4 000 The uniforms were ordered from a costume shop here by his father, Dominican dictator Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo

Trujillo senior demanded the "world's most striking dress uniforms" to reward his son's promise to abandon the caviar and champagne circuit for a life of martial dedication Trujillo Jr might even take active command of the Dominican armed forces should his country be attacked by Cuban or Venezuelan revolutionaries.

THE DUESSELDORF firm says that all that glitter on the uniforms will be gold—with lacings of silver here and there—and that the two soldier suits will be the fanciest in Latin America The firm would not go so far as to say they would be the fanciest in the world.

Trujillo's ambassador to West Germany, Salvador Ortiz, negotiated the contract for the two uniforms and has been kept informed of every step in their creation

"Germany is famous for uniforms—a heritage, you might say. The craftsmanship here is unmatched anywhere else in the world," he explained

TRUJILLO JR., has had one of the most brilliant military careers in the annals of peacetime armies. He was appointed a major at the age of 3 (drawing $350 monthly salary), a colonel at the age of 4, brigadier general at 9

Trujillo Jr 's meteoric rise, it is said, was helped along by his father.

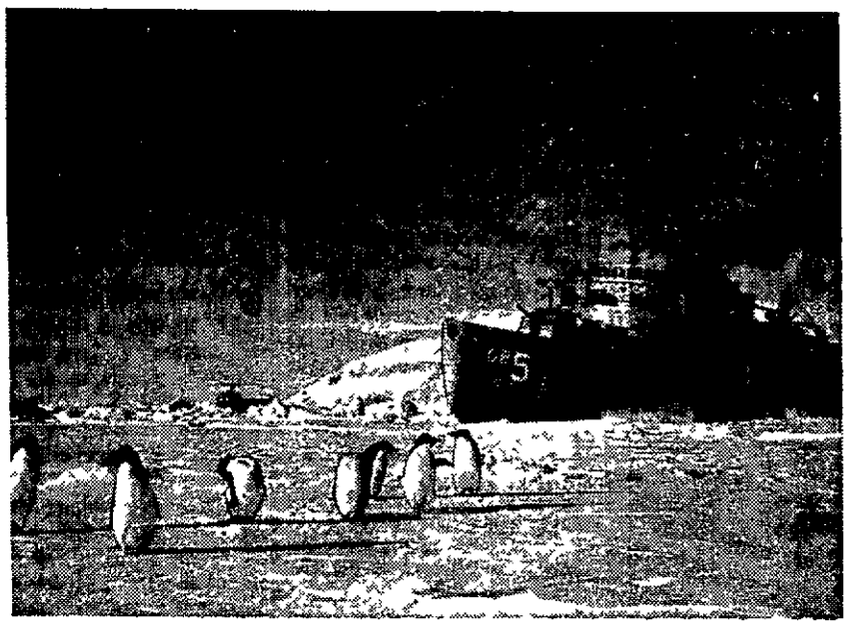
Known as "Ramfis" by his family and close friends, 30 year-old Trujillo Jr has been regarded as a playboy in the United States, especially for his Hollywood revels As a "Christmas present" he gave actress Kim Novak a convertible costing $8 490 Zsa Zsa Gabor got one worth $5,600

While romping in Hollywood, "Ramfis" was supposed to be attending classes at the U S Army's Command and General Staff School at Ft Leavenworth, Kan Because of his absences he was not awarded a certificate of completion from the school and he left the United States in a pique

Now he reportedly has promised his father that he will become a true Spartan and take an active role in military affairs A reconciliation between "Ramfis" and his wife, mother of his six children, also has been claimed here

It is not known when the rewards for these reforms—the $8 000 worth of uniforms—will be ready to wear



NEW SIGHT ON HORIZON. These penguins seem undisturbed by U S Navy icebreaker Staten Island making its way through their home in frozen Ross Sea area

Peace Treaty Plans Drafted By State Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has prepared a tentative draft of a German peace treaty for possible use in a foreign ministers meeting with the Soviet Union

By contrast with the Soviet peace treaty proposal of several weeks ago, the U S provisions would leave the way open for a sovereign all German government to forge whatever links it wished with neighboring nations and other countries of the world

Statement of Principles

The U S document—some officials say it is more a statement of principles than a tentative treaty draft—has been proposed to Britain, France and West Germany for discussion

The Western European Allies were reported today to be cool to the idea of carrying forward plans for a German peace treaty at this time They apparently feel the more urgent problems are those involved in reunifying Germany

But U S officials emphasize that the Soviet government obviously intends to raise the question of a peace treaty at a foreign ministers meeting, and they want the Western powers to be ready to meet it in some way It is felt here that when the occasion arises the Allies should be ready to tell the Soviets and the world the kind of peace which they would make with an all-German government

Essential First Step

Present Western planning is based on the idea that the essential first step in solving the problems of Germany is some move toward reuniting the divided country and creating an all-German government

To this end Western policy planners now meeting in Paris are talking about proposing to the Soviets the creation of a federation to bring East and West Germany under a single political roof

Over a period of several years the powers of the central federal government would gradually be increased and the powers of the present East and West German regimes would correspondingly decrease

The highly tentative U S draft is understood to be based on the principle that when a peace treaty finally is signed, Germany should be given full control over its own affairs and should be free to choose its own course in international relations

Would You Believe It!

THIS IS THE CARPET THAT WAS INSTALLED ON OUR DRIVEWAY

BARWICK CARPET MADE OF 100% DUPONT CARPET NYLON

"Seeing Is Believing" . . .

This is the carpet we installed on our driveway during the month of February. Hundreds of our customers walked and drove over it . . . And, February gave us rain, sleet and snow . . . Our "hot-rod" friends even spun their tires on it! This carpet was abused; subjected to more wear, tear and soiling than you would ever dream of giving it in your home. And yet, (come and see for yourself, it's displayed in our south window) it cleaned beautifully. Mr. Highland, of the Hollyday Rug Co, cleaned half of the carpet for us, using the same cleaning techniques he would use in your home . . . and the cleaned half looks as good as new. "Seeing is believing." We invite you to come in tonight, Friday or Saturday and see the many beautiful patterns and colors of BARWICK carpet — made of 100% DUPONT CARPET NYLON. YOUR BEST BUY IN CARPET.

To Answer Your Questions —

Mr. John Zimmerman, representative for Barwick Mills, Inc., will be in our store Friday afternoon, evening and all day Saturday. He will be glad to answer any questions you may have concerning your carpet needs.

Radio and Television

By MARIE TORRE

No Originality in Hollywood

Jack Paar's insomniac viewers, inordinately devoted to his candid ways, may have gathered from the humorist's TV murmurings that his Hollywood visit hasn't lived up to expectations, or the advance publicity. The assumption would be correct.

Marie Torre

Paar made the trek to Hollywood to play host to the native stars, but he might as well have stayed in New York for all the sun-kissed stars who've graced his babbling panel.

He summoned the New York bunch—Genevieve, Peggy Cass, Cliff Arquette—when he found himself with a lot of "empty promises," and it isn't only on camera that Paar will talk of the Great Hollywood Disillusionment.

"IF NOTHING ELSE," fumed Paar when he should have been enjoying the view from a sun-drenched pool, "this trip has shattered, for me, the myth about the great glib artists out here.

"Rot! They can't put a sentence together. Without scripts, they're dead. They're afraid to come on my show and engage in a little conversation because they can't talk without their writers. They're nothing without their writers. Oh, they're great when it comes to one-line gags, though.

"As for the movie stars, they know only one answer. You ask them, 'How was your last picture?' and they say, 'It was fun!' So help me, that's all they say, 'It was fun!' "

Before Paar made the journey (his second and probably last Hollywood trip under his present setup, for he still intends to quit nightly TV after July), he had received assorted promises from NBC and talent agencies that such personalities as George Burns, Milton Berle, Dean Martin, George Gobel, Dennis Day and Bob Hope would pay calls.

"THE ONLY ONE" who will keep his word," continued Paar, "is Bob Hope. The rest, including George Burns, who's supposed to be the world's greatest raconteur, won't come on. They're afraid. The stars out here don't twinkle.

"NBC has $250,000 worth of executives here and none of them can deliver a star. I'll not forget it. Next time NBC asks me to plug one of those innocuous Westerns, I'll remember this episode. I have a very long memory."

This hardly would seem the time for community officials to put pressure on Paar to move his show to Hollywood, but they have, he says. And to no avail, it might be added.

"I've nothing against Hollywood," he remarked. "Living here is great, and the TV technicians are the best. But my kind of show couldn't exist in Hollywood. The real talkers are in New York—the people who've been trained in radio and the theater. We can ad lib funnier stuff than they're writing here.

"Oh, but who cares?" he said with a characteristic shrug. "I just bought some stock and it went up 30 points."

Treating Mary Martin like the star she is, NBC doled out a five-figure sum to turn its Brooklyn studio into a theater patterned after "Marie Antoinette's little playhouse at Versailles" for her twin shows Easter Day. . . .

Talks between Dinah Shore's representatives and Chevy are said to be about a deal similar to the Perry Como-Kraft 25-million-dollar block buster.

A POINT of major TV significance was raised at the CBS affiliates convention in Chicago over the weekend by Frank Stanton.

Stanton's concern is the deterrent imposed on broadcasting news by the new interpretation of Section 315 of the Federal Communications Act in the Lar (America First) Daly case in Chicago. (The FCC ruling gives all political office seekers "equal time" privileges on demand.)

Said Stanton:

"The Daly decision, for all practical purposes, makes it a mathematical impossibility for broadcasting to report any political campaign in its own way and take advantage of its own technical capabilities. . . .

"It simply deprives us of the right to use the distinctive capabilities of television and radio to report directly and vividly the news of political campaigns to the American people. . . .

"It attempts to substitute a ridiculous mathematical formula for the responsibility of news editors in handling the news of political campaigns."

Altar, in Use 69 Years, Is Moved to New Home

MEQUON, Wis. (AP) — Everything is new at the recently-opened School Sisters of Notre Dame motherhouse here, except for the altar in the chapel.

The altar, a single heavy slab of Italian marble resting on pillars of Mexican onyx, was moved here from the old motherhouse in Milwaukee. At least two sisters had prayed at the altar at all times, day and night, since 1890.

Rich, Moist Cheese Cake Is Gourmet Delight

Cheese cake, rich, moist and delicious, has made more than one dieter throw away the calorie chart for a gourmet's title.

The cheese cake produced by this recipe is no exception.

Famous Cheese Cake

1½ pounds of cream cheese
5 ounces (just under ¾ cup) sugar
1 ounce (3 tablespoons and ½ teaspoon) cornstarch
3 eggs

Work cream cheese with fork until soft. Add sugar and cornstarch and blend until smooth. Add eggs one at a time.

Pour into circular baking pan resting in large pan filled with water. Bake in preheated oven at 450 degrees until brown on top. Then turn oven down to 350 degrees. Test with a knife for doneness.

Canal Link With U.S. Is Mexican Project's Goal

MEXICO CITY (NANA) — The new government headed by Adolfo Lopez Mateos is speeding plans for the long proposed intracoastal canal which will link up with United States inland waterways.

The Department of Navy has announced that construction work is about to begin. Total cost of the project will be approximately 200,000,000 pesos ($16,000,000).

The Tampico-Matamoros intracoastal canal will provide a direct link with the U.S. intracoastal canal at Brownsville, Tex., speeding movement of merchandise. The canal will permit marine navigation during all months, without costly delays now caused by the constant "nortes" (storms) on the Gulf.

Key section of the canal is the Madre Laguna, which extends for approximately 119 miles, and will require only some dredging and installation of guide buoys.

Engineer Julio Salinas Ramos, author of the project, has made an exhaustive study of the proposed water route, including topographic, hydrographic and orographic charting.

The channel through the Madre Laguna will have a depth of 12 feet and a width of 50 feet, Ramos said. This will permit navigation by coastal freighters as well as scow convoys to move combustibles, minerals, prime matrials and agricultural production of the rich Vera Cruz and Tamaulipas farming regions.

Mexico is especially interested in this project because Mexican ports currently are disregarded by American users of marine shipping in the Southwest. Marine freight has been moved via the ports of Brownsville, Galveston and New Orleans.

Now, according to a Navy Department spokesman, Tampico and Matamoros will be able to compete with the American ports on a favorable basis because of "rapidity of maneuvers" and "reduced maritime freight rates" which will be made possible by the Mexican canal.

The project has a further importance, for this segment will be the initial link in what is destined to become a Mexican Gulf Coast inland waterway stretching from Matamoros deep south to Coatzacoalcos. The protected marine highway may one day be even extended as far as Merida, as the Yucatan peninsula enters into an age of tourist and industrial expansion.

Oilseeds are mostly used in manufacture of shortening and cooking oils, but also in soap, paints and printing inks.

There Is a Secret to Egg Drop Soup

Films of Raw Egg Look Like Flowers When Added to Broth

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor

Chefs try to keep their secrets. This food editor tries to ferret them out!

What's on our mind? The way of a Chinese chef with an egg and a kettle of broth. A quick beating, a few stirs, and lovely films of egg looking like delicate flowers appear.

We followed chefs' directions for this soup as given in cook books, but never could we create the magic. Blame it on recipe semantics or on us, but the long wispy shreds of egg just didn't form. You know what we were aiming for if you've ever eaten Egg Drop Soup in a fine Chinese restaurant.

Then we came on a special directive, experimented with it; now we pass along the secret to you. There are three keys to this operation. The broth has to be the right temperature. The egg has to be beaten to the proper consistency. The mating of broth and egg — the pouring and stirring — has to be done just so. The simplest trick in the world once you've mastered it!

This egg broth, we find, is a superb pickup. Try it some mid-morning when your energy is low, your spirits sagging, and see if you don't agree. That perfect food, the delightful egg, adds protein, vitamins and minerals, and the piping hot chicken broth is bracing.

EGG FLOWER SOUP. Shown front right, this soup is easy to prepare with broth and a raw egg—if you know the technique. The other two soups, bouillon and vegetable, feature hard-cooked eggs.

EGG FLOWER SOUP

Ingredients: 1 egg, 1 can (12½ fluid ounces) clear chicken broth, boiling water, salt.

Method: Break the egg into a teacup; with a fork beat just enough barely to combine yolk and white so when egg is lifted high it will run off fork in a watery stream. Empty broth into a 1-pint measure; add enough boiling water to make 2 cups. Turn broth into a 1-quart saucepan and heat until boiling hot; adjust heat so broth will simmer — that means bubbles form slowly and collapse below the surface of the liquid. Hold cup about 5 inches above saucepan and pour egg slowly in a fine stream into the very hot broth; stop and start again a few times during the pouring so as to be sure to add the egg slowly enough to keep the soup at simmering temperature; as you pour, stir constantly with the fork in wide circles so as to draw the egg, as it hits the hot broth, into long films and strands. After all the egg is added, add salt to taste and simmer several minutes. Serve at once. Makes 2 servings.

Glass Vehicle Forecast In Automobile Industry

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A glass automobile may be in store for the future, says Dr. George B. Watkins, chairman of the technical policy committee of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. Dr. Watkins said it is foreseeable research will produce a transparent material which, when laminated with glass, "will result in a transparent composite capable of functioning as a structural member in automobile bodies."

Producers To Try Hand At Venture in Industry

NEW YORK (AP) — Theater producers come to Broadway from many other fields of business, but now a successful management team is doing a switch.

Robert E. Griffith and Harold S. Prince, who presented "Pajama Game" and "Damn Yankees," have set up a company to build cabin cruisers. Some of their show backers have become stockholders.

Strip-Mine Policy Revised

Ohio Assembly Studies Land Reclamation Bills

BY DUANE E. CROFT
Marion Star Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Ohio will be able to save more and make better use of coal strip-mine lands if companion bills now in the hopper are approved by the 103rd General Assembly.

Both are expected to be assigned to committees soon to start their travels along the legislative route, according to Rep. Joseph Loha (D-Jefferson), spokesman for the sponsors.

One of the measures, co-authored by Rep. Paul B. Siple (D-Lawrence) and Rep. Vernon G. Hisrich (D-Tuscarawas), would tighten control over reclamation procedures and spell out in greater detail the responsibility of mine operators to return strip land to usable form.

THE OTHER, co-sponsored with Loha by Hisrich, Rep. Rhoderic G. Mills (D-Perry) and Rep. Robert L. Roderer (D-Montgomery), would shift administration of the program to the Division of Forestry and give the state authority to buy, restore and sell stripped or eroded land not covered by recent reclamation laws.

Under the first bill land to be strip mined would be classified in eight categories, defined by the Conservation Service of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

A mine operator working land in one of the first five classes would be required to remove and set aside 10 inches of top soil. After completing his mining he would have to refill the last cut to conform as nearly as possible to the original contour and replace the top soil so that the land could be tilled by farm machinery.

LANDS IN THE remaining categories, which would apply to steeper slopes, would have to be graded to permit farm machinery.

Sufficient spoil would have to be placed in the last cut to reduce the height of the high wall 50 per cent.

The bill would increase the operator's original bond deposit from $220 to $500 an acre, of which $440 would be returned to him if he met the requirements of the program.

The measure would also tighten up the program by requiring that professional engineers prepare the mining map and by removing the present six-man limit on the enforcement staff.

"The program this bill is designed to accomplish has two purposes," Loha said, "It seeks to save good tillable land from ruin and to permit the recovery of valuable coal deposits.

"We know the program will work because it is already being followed by some mining firms in Jefferson and Harrison counties."

THE COMPANION bill would transfer the functions of the Division of Reclamation of the Agriculture Dept. to the Division of Forestry in the Dept. of Natural Resources. This would also give the Natural Resources director control over the reclamation program.

The state would be authorized to buy lands long idled by strip mining or erosion. It would study the land and its surrounding territory to determine the best way to reclaim it and its best potential use.

After restoring it, the state could use it itself or sell it. Receipts would go into the general fund.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle requested in his state of the state message a program to reclaim old strip mine lands. He also encouraged the study of the possibility of developing such areas for recreational use as state lakes and parks.
